DOCU REALITY

Mipcom, content business changes on real time

Content business continues at Mipcom (its main event of the year) with its two faces: on one hand, advertisement pies keep flat and most of the markets in the world have more problems (production costs up, etc.) than good news. But on the other hand, many people say that content market is in a new Golden Era, due to the irruption of digital platforms.

Can Mipcom tell us which face is wider? Of course not, contradictions are a strong icon of current times. But it will provide very important indicators about how the market evolves to a better future for many people in the industry.

For instance, at MIPTV a programming gap was stressed between U.S. scripted production and Europe. The former is producing more cable-alike programs, the latter wants traditional free TV series. So, there is a big opportunity for independents and fiction companies from the world, to fill the blank. Also, there are new genre twists in entertainment formats, digital platforms are scheduling new business models to vary Netflix S-VOD one. There are new production hubs appearing, different Governments are launching production support plans. It is important to be informed, first of all.

The relationship between content and technology is just starting. We dedicate our main report to tell what is coming, based in our experience on enterprise information technology business: Cloud, Bring your own device, Internet of Things, Social networks... the report is very interesting to read.

About PRENSARIO, this is not another Mipcom issue. We provide three editions for the show: our Mipcom edition, a special Kids-Teens issue and Turkey Country of Honor Special edition. Please look for them separately in Cannes.

The latter follows our 'Country of honor' editions of the last two years, but it is the first time of a no Latin country... we are really proud of this development, it is a new step ahead in our worldwide expansion. PRENSARIO started in Latin America, but the last 15 years turned to a strong worldwide publication, with capillary feedback from buyers of all regions. See you at The Palais and in our Mipcom online daily reports.

A NEW PHENOMENON BEGINS

HEROES REBORN

NBCUniversal
So much more.

ITO, Turkey: 'Our drama series rise has just begun and our success will grow'

The Istanbul Chamber of Commerce (ITO) has been participating of MIPCOM since 2011 and it believes that this fair is the heart of this industry. A year ago, it was selected by Reed Midem as the main organizing body of Turkey Country of Honour for MIPCOM 2015.

İbrahim Çağlar, chairman, ITO, explains: 'This is an important issue for our Chamber. We have been preparing for the fair for over a year in order to show Turkish TV sector's strong presence. Our 300sqm Home of Turkey tent is a lively and colorful area with giant screens, panel discussions, surprise shows and autograph sessions of our artists. Moreover, there is an over 100sqm Turkey stand, where the participants can meet our producers and artists in person and all our bilateral meetings will take place in this stand. I believe in 2015 the Turkish Pavilion will be MIPCOM's heartbeat.

'As a result, the sectorial representatives who are involved in film and TV business all over the world have the opportunity to witness the Turkish TV industries strong presence, which opens new gateways for cooperation. Today, Turkish TV series are being screened through a vast geography including nearly 100 countries from Latin America to the Middle East, Balkans and North Africa', he adds.

'The reason for Turkish TV series to reach a vast amount of audience spread over the world seems to be our polyphonic cultural mosaic. Discovering new stories bridging both Eastern and Western values attracts the audience. One of the strongest TV series producers of the world, Latin America, has become one of the top importers of Turkish TV series. This rise has just begun and our success will grow. I advice the investors not to miss this opportunity'.

'Above all, our qualified human resource is a great advantage. Thanks to the academical educational background we have well-supported and selective actors and actresses. Turkey has a young population keeping up with contemporary developments and adopts new attitudes towards changes quite easily. We use social media effectively. The reality shows on the TV attract great attention. Regarding TV sector, Turkey is the second fastest growing country in the world after China. Therefore, Turkey's industry harbors big opportunities'.

'İstanbul is a center of attraction in itself. By a 3-4 hour flight one third of the world population is reachable. For those who want to do business in Turkey, the bureaucratic processes are simplified to a great extent. By an application to the Ministry of Culture and Tourism, General Directorate of Cinema, the necessary permissions can be obtained within a short period of time. Tax refunds are provided. There are direct financial incentives as well. Foreign investors can make co-productions easily', remarks Çağlar.

About the future of Turkish industry, challenges and objectives, the executive says: 'Our series are getting a lot of attention both in the Balkans and the Middle East. This is understandable given the cultural and historical closeness of these regions. But what makes us happy indeed are the format based collaboration offers, received from Latin America and Far East. We are expecting increasing developments on this subject. However, we are still not visible enough in American market and our main objective is to make long-term collaborations for this market'.

'Alongside, Turkey is located in a region which hosted many different civilizations (Byzantine, Ottoman, Hittites, Urartians.). In Turkey you can the unique harmony of traditional and modern. It is a natural stage-plato for both epoch films and series as well as contemporary productions. Most importantly, tourism and telecommunication sectors are also aware of the power of TV market. Within this framework, we believe that sectorial collaborations, both at the local and international level, will increase'.

'As mentioned before, today our export amount is USD 200 million. However our goal for 2023, which is 100th anniversary of the Turkish Republic, is to reach 1 billion dollars', concludes the executive.

Turkey at a glance

- Turkey is the second fastest growing country in the world after China regarding TV sector
- The number of national and local stations in Turkey are 258 and 50 TV series are screened per week
- Today, export amount is USD 200 million and the goal to reach is USD 1 billion in 2023
- The sector exports increase with a rate of 4.54% on average in the world, whereas Turkey's exports increase rate is 20%
- Advertisement expenditure in Turkey amount to 3 billion USD and its 52% belongs to TV advertisement
- Turkish film industry is making a distinguished name for itself now. It has films awarded at Cannes Film Festival, The International Federation of Film Critics and Australia Cinema Awards

İbrahim Çağlar, chairman, Istanbul Chamber of Commerce (ITO)

TF1, an 'entire galaxy' of options

With the TV offering becoming increasingly fragmented, French leading broadcaster TF1 is no longer simply the well-known channel, but an 'entire galaxy of channels', namely TF1, TMC, NT1 and HD1, explains Fabrice Bailly, head of programming of TF1, who describes to PRENSARIO the moment of one of the main television groups of the market.

He continues: 'Through these channels, the TF1 group addresses a complete range of audiences, each one with its own — and complementary — identity. The four channels have since the start of the year taken a 27.5% audience share and 32% of women purchasing decision-makers under 50'.

'TF1 has a unique position. It is a premium channel with headlining programmes and major entertainment, news and sports shows. It is also the leading private player in terms of creation with a comprehensive offering of French drama, films and series. TMC is known for its prestigious British drama shows, including The Missing and Downton Abbey, and for its French drama, such as Les Mystères de l'amour, the magazine shows, like 90' Enquêtes, and documentaries, as well as for family entertainment'.

NT1 targets a young and connected audience with its favourite programmes including exclusive generational American series The Vampire Diaries and The Walking Dead, along with light entertainment, Super Nanny or Le Grand frère, and successful reality shows such as Secret Story on a daily basis. HD1 is a 100% storytelling channel. It provides a second window of exposure for viewers' favourite drama shows together with over 250 theatre-release films. The channel broadcasts a mix of cinema, French drama and cult US series such as ER and House.

For the flagship network TF1, Bailly says it is preparing a 'high-profile back-to-school period', notably with the Rugby World Cup, airing from September 18 to October 31, 2015. 'Our headlining dimension will be expressed across all programme categories, starting with French drama. Prestigious productions are on a roll at TF1 with 3 top-notch miniseries, Le Mystère du lac, Une chance de trop and Le secret d'Elise. We also have, currently in production Sam, a 52-minute, 6 episode series'.

Returning for its sixth season, the French drama Profilage is now a TF1 classic and has proved immensely popular with viewers, scoring record ratings of up to 8.2 million viewers. The show has notably been purchased by Spain and Germany. The channel continues to boast a strong line-up of American series, with the broadcast of the final season of The Mentalist this autumn, together with the second season of Blacklist and the debut of the major new series Gotham, and Zoo, based on a best seller by James Patterson.

On the entertainment side, other shows airing this autumn include the new seasons of The Voice, The Voice Kids and Danse avec les stars, as well as Survivor, the NRJ Music Awards and the 2016 Miss France beauty pageant. 'Our offering will also be enhanced by new formats, including Puppet show, a marionette talent contest by Talpa, and an extremely promising documentary series called The Secret Life of 4 Year Olds', adds Bailly.

Regarding digital, the executive remarks that the TF1 group continues to focus in this area, and explains further: 'The subsidiary e-TF1 proposes a comprehensive catch-up TV service, MYTF1, along with MYTF1News, for continuous news programming, and MYTF1VOD, a particularly strong line-up of VOD content. A broad range of websites based on the TF1 group are also being developed, including WAT, for sharing video content, and TFOU, dedicated to children (see interview on the MIPJunior edition)'.

'The Group continues to roll out new projects, such as the renewal of the MYTF1 digital brand, which since this year has grouped all the content of the Group's four freeview channels, TF1, TMC, NT1 and HD1. Consumers now have free access to the entire replay offering of the four channels', concludes Bailly.

Televisa Digital: 'Dejamos de ser una UDN para ser el ADN del grupo'

Manuel Gilardi, VP Digitaly Nuevos Medios del Grupo Televisa, destaca a PRENSARIO un balance del proyecto de segunda pantalla Logout, que aún está en emisión en Telehit, y subraya los cambios de paradigma sobre cómo se conciben los proyectos de producción en el grupo.

Logout es una serie de 13 episodios, cuyo primer capítulo de una hora y los restantes de media hora, que aún sigue en emisión en Telehit, pero que se prepara para emitirse en la plataforma SVOD del grupo, VEO Play, y Canal 5. 'Estamos muy contentos con los resultados de audiencia. La app se descargó más de 100.000 veces. Estamos trabajando en una segunda temporada', adelanta Gilardi.

Esta serie es el resultado de un cambio de paradigma dentro del Grupo Televisa. 'La gente sigue consumiendo televisión pero de forma diferente, con los móviles y tabletas a su lado. La estrategia fue organizar un tipo de contenido que permite una interacción hacia segundas pantallas. Logramos cifras récords con Logout, y ya estamos pensando otros proyectos, ya sean sobre contenidos de nuestra librería, como proyectos originales', subraya.

Con tres años al frente del área digital, Gilardi hoy dirige un equipo de 120-150 personas. Sin embargo, enfatiza que el cambio principal no es cuantitativo, sino cualitativo. 'No hemos crecido tanto si se tiene en cuenta el número de empleados. Sí hubo un cambio de estructura: dejamos de ser una UDN (Unidad de Negocios) a pasar a ser el ADN del grupo. Esto significó estar integrados y dejar de funcionar como un órgano separado', indica.

El cambio es más profundo aún. Prosigue: 'No hay un solo proyecto del Grupo Televisa que en el que desde el inicio no se conciba el componente digital (redes sociales, videos virales, etc.). Es un cambio filosófico: Internet dejó de ser "otro" negocio y ahora es una extensión del core business de la compañía que es ser generadores de contenidos'.

¿Qué género funcionan mejor en el mundo digital? 'Creo que estamos en un paradigma equivocado, pensando en variables de otra época. Nosotros preferimos hablar de ventanas/pantallas, no de géneros ya que estos no han cambiado demasiado. ¿Si vemos una serie en Netflix, es digital o TV? Ya no importa para muchos demográficos', resalta Gilardi.

Y ejemplifica: 'Si asistimos a un cambio radical en los vehículos de distribución. Probablemente en el cine que hayamos asistido a ver la última película, ésta fue transmitida de manera 100% digital, pero la "experiencia" de ir cine no cambió, sigue siendo excitante (NdR: año a año hay más asistencia al cine en algunos países, como el caso de Argentina)'.

La aplicación Tu Diriges de Televisa Deportes es un buen ejemplo, ya que a partir de ella la audiencia puede acceder a cámaras que no están siendo utilizadas en ese momento por el director. 'Este tipo de acciones implica un esfuerzo de parte del usuario, pero aún así son muy exitosas. La audiencia ha evolucionado y pide este tipo de acciones'.

El ejecutivo señala que hay un cambio 'definitivo' en los medios, aunque considera que están más afectados los impresos que a los audiovisuales. 'La radio, la TV y el cine convivirán mucho tiempo con el digital, complementando y compitiendo al mismo tiempo. Los impresos, por depender de un soporte costoso e incómodo, no creo que corran la misma suerte', dice.

Si bien América Latina muestra un rezago frente a mercados desarrollados como USA o Europa (ancho de banda, penetración del servicio), el tiempo que le llevará para desarrollarse es 'menor' que el de estos últimos. ¿Por qué? Contesta Gilardi: 'Demográficos más jóvenes (millennials & Generación Z) y emergente clases medias en todos los países. Hay un potencial enorme de crecimiento'.

La mayoría de la población en América Latina está por debajo de los 18 años (a la inversa de Europa donde hay la misma cantidad de jóvenes que de viejos), mientras que la clase media crece rápido: contando todos los países, el PBI per cápita es mayor que China.

¿Grupo Televisa compite o se complementa con gigantes tech como Apple, Facebook, Twitter, Google/YouTube? 'Somos frienemies en esta lógica de amigo-enemigo. Lo que está claro es que llegaron para quedarse, pero corren con una desventaja: no producen contenido, son básicamente plataformas tecnológicas. Ahí hay una complementación única, que ya estamos aprovechando. Tenemos muchos puntos de contacto. No es el mismo caso de Netflix, que es un sistema cerrado y cuyo principal driver para suscribirse es la producción original', resalta el ejecutivo.

JSBC, and the internationalization of Chinese industry

Established in June 2001 out of merger and acquisition, Jiangsu Broadcasting Corporation Group (JSBC) runs 15 TV and 10 radio channels, 1 newspaper and 5 periodicals, plus IPTV, mobile TV, CMMB, Web TV stations and other online TV portals, other media and cultural industries. In the last years, it has become one of the most powerful and influential players and pacesetters of China's media and cultural industry.

Jiangsu Satellite Channel, leading channel of the group, covers a population of over 1 billion in Mainland China, Hong Kong, Macau, Taiwan Province as well as North America through Direct TV. Jiangsu International Channel, launched on Great Wall Platform, covers 6 continents. JSBC co-launched in 2015 with PCWW the Pay TV channel now Jelli covering Malaysia, Hong Kong and Thailand, aiming to mold it as the best entertainment channel in Chinese-speaking market.

The flagship network has been ranking first in both coverage and audience rating at prime time slots nationwide ever since the beginning of 2012. As a group, JSBC produces all kinds of contents, including news, current affairs, drama, feature films, documentaries, reality shows, quiz shows, music, infotainment, talk shows, lifestyle, sports, animation, children and educational programs, etc.

Yuanyuan Qiu, president of Jiangsu Broadcasting Corporation International Company (JSBCI)

It has created several own produced blockbusters, including the matchmaking show Perfect Match, which remains the #1 non-seasonal TV show in China, receiving acclaims among domestic and overseas Chinese communities; the music program Celebrity Battle won the Award for Best Music Program at Asian Television Awards 2014; the format Super Combat Teams attracted many international buyers at MIPTV 2015; and the Fight for Her that won acclaims. Also, it has produced international formats in China: King of Masked Singer, The Brain, We Are in Love, Sasuke China, Who's Still Standing, My Man Can, Marriage Ref, among others, as well as Chinese TV dramas and feature films.

The series Changes has beaten other outstanding competitors and won for the Best Drama Series at Asian Television Awards 2010. The JSBC-invested feature film Black Coal, Thin Ice, won the Golden and Silver Bear Awards at the 64th Berlin International Film Festival, while the documentary I Never Knew that about China was aired in many countries and regions and attracted international attention to China.

Yuanyuan Qiu, president of Jiangsu Broadcasting Corporation International Company (JSBCI), explains: 'Chinese media and culture industry is witnessing dramatic growth. But, still the international influence of Chinese content does not match the international status of China mainly due to culture differences. In the international field, is still very difficult for global viewers to accept merely dubbed or subtitled Chinese contents'.

'We have to better understand the preferences and provide targeted products for the niche market through local operators. Two good examples are Perfect Match and Super Combat Teams, which have taken into consideration international factors and preferences on its research, development, production, marketing and distribution', she says.

The first one has been aired at SBS Australia prime time for 3 years, and JSBCI has signed a pre-sell contract with MTG-owned Scandinavian prodco NICE and German prodco Tre-sor to co-produce the local versions in those markets. 'Future of internationalization of the Chinese media industry is beyond expectation and it is our hope that we can be China's pioneers of media business expansion', adds Qiu.

JSBCI is planning to expand the business focus to format research and development, content production and investment as well as overseas platform operations. She stands: 'With UK media group Lion TV we co-produced the documentary Valley of the Kings, which will be broadcast on Channel 4, ARTE and other international networks. We also cooperate with Southeast Asia media giant PCCW and US companies to co-launch joint ventures and overseas all-media platforms', concludes Qiu.

VOX: digital, co-productions, in house developments

As part of Mediengruppe RTL Deutschland boutique of channels, VOX was launched in 1993. It is now the fourth biggest German private television channel, right after RTL, ProSieben and Sat.1, and it offers a complete range of relevant TV genres.

Bernd Reichart, CEO, VOX, explains to PRENSARIO: 'Our daytime and prime time entertainment program primarily consists of a large variety of in-house productions. With top TV formats as Sing meinen Song – Das Tauschkonzert we reach up to 2,58 million viewers and a very good audience share of up to 13,1% in our relevant demographic of 14-to-59 year-olds in the current season. On average our audience share of viewers aged 14 to 59 is at 6,8%'.

He continues: '70% of our programs are in-house productions. The remaining 30% are US Blockbusters and high-quality US-series such as Outlander (Sony), which was successfully launched in May, or crime TV-series as How to Get Away with Murder (Disney-ABC) that have started last month'.

About the German TV Market, Reichart says: 'The advertising market is very stable and German television continues to gain advertising market share. Consequently, this permits us to continue to invest a large amount of money in our program mix'.

Bernd Reichart, CEO, VOX TV

Regarding our viewers, he observes huge curiosity for new and innovative formats. The executive highlights: 'Last year we succeeded to satisfy this curiosity with outbreak hits like Sing meinen Song – Das Tauschkonzert and Die Höhle der Löwen. Especially the first one proved that fans are deeply engaged in successful TV-brands. Its first season already generated two very successful albums. The compilation of the second season immediately entered #1 in the German charts. Moreover, both seasons were a big hit in social networks and on online-platforms'.

'With the German adaption of the British format The Great British Sewing Bee, we would like to surprise our viewers again. Certainly, we hope that it will evoke similar enthusiasm', he completes.

As digital media expands and diversifies, PRENSARIO wants to know about the projects VOX is planning. Reichart says: 'I like the quote A hit is a hit. If a format is successful it will be successful on other platforms as well. Hence, we offer all our formats on VOXNOW.de for free, even 7 days after their broadcast on TV. In addition to that, we also produce a special content for on-line platforms. For example there is a new comedy-series on Clipfish with one of our VOX-characters: Detlef Steves. He is well known for his appearances in numerous docu-soaps'.

Future? He remarks: 'In the near future there will be an increased focus on in-house productions and in-house developments as they already represent 70% of the program. In respect of TV-series we will increasingly rely on co-productions such as our alliances with TF1 and NBCUniversal'.

'Consequently, on one hand we can be more independent of US Studios and on the other, we can ensure to hold a decent set of rights on such properties in our territory.'

VOX is currently working on its first in-house fiction series Der Club der roten Bänder

Beyond that we are currently working on a TV-series that is our first in-house fiction production: Der Club der roten Bänder. By the end of this year we will show the German adaption of the successful Spanish format "Polseres vermelles".

Top format Sing meinen Song – Das Tauschkonzert reaches up to 2,58 million viewers and 13,1% audience share on VOX relevant demographic, 14-59

Mipcom 2015:

Content & Technology, the new scenarios take shape

Mipcom is the main annual event of content business, October 4-8 in Cannes, France. The great issue today is the confluence between traditional media industry, with TV on the top, and the digital boom, with new VOD platforms on the front but also every technology development that enriches customer experience. Advertising, Gaming, everything is involved. PRENSARIO, apart from this media publication, has also a leading magazine in Enterprise information technology (IT) segment. It is very interesting to check the big new trends in that market, and take them to content business.

Germany: Claudia Ruehl, senior manager of acquisitions, and Ruediger Boess, SVP acquisitions, both at ProSiebenSat Media Group; Ladya Van Eeden, program director, Vox/RTL; Quirin Berg, from big producer Berg & Wiedemann; Bernd Reichart, CEO, Vox/RTL; Oliver Kreuter, CBS

All roads converge in Germany at the European content market. Now, German broadcasters are stressing fiction contents.

M6, France: Berengere Terouanne, fiction manager; Sidone Garrett, senior manager of acquisitions and marketing; Bernard Majani, head of acquisitions; and Thomas Valentin, VP of the board in charge of TV channels and contents

French broadcasters are making strong focus on co-productions and development of new digital channels

South Korea and Japan: Annie Chung, senior manager acquisitions, and Juhae Lee, assistant manager, both from CJ (South Korea) with Chie Muto, executive manager, strategies and acquisitions, NHK (Japan); Taichi Shimmi, film department, TV TOKYO (Japan); and Yukari Misaizu, content producer at NHK (Japan)

Japanese broadcasters are definitely more opened to the international market. There are production and digital opportunities

Mipcom 2015: Contenido & Tecnología, los nuevos escenarios toman forma

Mipcom es la gran cita anual del mercado mundial de contenidos, del 4 al 8 de octubre en Cannes, Francia. Hoy el gran tema es la confluencia entre la tradicional industria de medios, con la TV a la cabeza, y el auge digital, de las nuevas plataformas VOD pero también todo tipo de desarrollo tecnológico que genere aportes al mercado. Advertising, Gaming, todo participa ahora. PRENSARIO, además de esta publicación de media, tiene una revista líder en tecnología informática (IT) empresarial. Es muy interesante ver las nuevas tendencias estructurales en ese ámbito, y llevarlas al mercado de contenidos. Hace un par de eventos, Nadav Palti, CEO de Dorimedia (Israel) nos hizo un comentario ocurrente: 'En hebreo, content y software se dicen con la misma palabra, software sería el femenino de content.

India is a strong production hub with the West, that South East Asia especially wants to follow

A couple of events ago, Nadav Palti, CEO at Dorimedia (Israel) made us a smart comment: ‘In Hebrew language, content and software are expressed with the same word. In fact, software is the female of content. In Israel our content business grew up with technology embedded, that’s why we are strong now in the new age of multiplatform entertainment formats’.

According to international experts, today technology must applies to content not as something complementary that can be dropped, it must be embedded in the ADN of the content, must give it its reason to be. In some programs, Internet and chats do the same that telephone and SMSs did in the past. In others as Rising Star from Keshet Israel, social networks make candidates classify or not, in real time... it is a new world, with content & technology integrated.

En nuestro país el negocio de contenidos creció ya con la tecnología embebida, por eso somos muy fuertes en la nueva era multipantalla. Lo que se busca hoy en día, según coinciden los expertos internacionales, es que la tecnología aplicada al contenido no sea algo aleatorio que se pueda sacar sin alterar el producto, sino que esté embebida en la esencia misma del contenido, le de su razón de ser. En algunos programas, Internet, chats, reemplazan lo que antes eran el teléfono o los sms, pero la propuesta es la misma. En otros como Rising Star de Keshet de Israel, las redes sociales hacen en tiempo real que los candidatos clasifiquen o no... es un nuevo mundo con contenido y tecnología integrados.

So, let’s proceed with the comparison between IT enterprise industry (hardware, software, services) and content business...

Cloud, everything ‘as a service’

In enterprise technology business, the big matter this decade is the Cloud: added to traditional world, we have now a virtual environment generated by all the people and companies connected to Internet, that create a parallel community with its own rules. To go everywhere at once, unlimited simultaneous actions, real time collaboration between people in far locations, etc. This is changing enterprise business from end-to-end.

Por eso vale la comparación entre la industria de tecnología para empresas (hardware, software, servicios) y el mercado de contenidos. Veamos...

CLOUD, TODO ‘COMO SERVICIO’

En tecnología empresarial, el gran tema de la década es el Cloud, la Nube: al mundo tradicional se ha sumado un mundo virtual generado por todas las personas y empresas conectadas a la red, que generan una comunidad paralela con sus propias reglas: llegada inmediata a muchos lugares al mismo tiempo, ilimitadas acciones simultáneas, colaboración en tiempo real entre gente distante, etc. Esto está cambiando de plano los negocios empresariales.

The products of a company are sold now not only in the physic world (a box to deliver, installed on customer location, etc.) but also through Internet, 'as a service'. The customer pays per use or a period fee (monthly, etc.), and he doesn't need a first big investment, as in the traditional environment. Remote updates of the product can be made easily, you avoid physic problems as stock availability, etc. Also, the market is not local any more, it gets global: everyone can connect everyone.

In content business, obviously, this trend shows a strong effect. The distribution of contents in DVD goes online; TV cable and satellite operators deal today with many new OTT, IPTV players, which from one country, can reach anywhere if they have the proper legal and logistic assets solved. Broadband is today the air to breathe, to provide better services.

Inside content industry, all types of services are being improved, due to Cloud environments. Production, creative, post-production, distribution services are all more remote, immediate and efficient than in the past. And viewer feedback also is getting based on cloud matters, with social networks. Content business is pushed to be more global... a new market is to emerge, while broadband infrastructure is expanded. More and more segments of the market will be provided 'as as service'.

Se pueden hacer actualizaciones permanentes, se evitan las desventajas del mundo físico en disponibilidad de stock, etc. Además, el mercado deja de ser local y pasa a ser global, todos pueden conectarse con todos. En el ámbito de contenidos, obviamente, estos efectos se ven a pleno. La distribución de contenidos en DVD se reemplaza por distribución online, y los sistemas de cable o satélite tienen hoy la competencia de cantidad de operadores OTT, IPTV, que desde un país pueden llegar al mundo con la logística y los derechos adecuados. Bring your own Device

Another big trend of enterprise IT market is BYOD, 'Bring your own device'. This means that with the rise of notebooks, mainly smartphones and tablets, enterprise executives prefer to use their own devices, instead of the ones provided by their companies. This also means big challenges of operations and IT security, because the users take the devices home with work information, can loose them, share work and personal files, download not checked files, etc.

In content, this trend appears in the 'on demand' fever, especia-

Dentro de la industria de contenidos, se están potenciando todo tipo de servicios gracias al cloud: producción, creativos, post producción, de distribución, que se vuelven más remotos, rápidos y eficientes. Y el feedback de los usuarios también se basa en el cloud, con las redes sociales. El mercado de contenidos se vuelve así cada vez más global además... se viene un mercado nuevo, a medida que se expande la banda ancha. lly when the users tend to schedule their own programming. Instead of watching just channels as in the past, they choose contents and also systems, to build their own 'Combo'. For instance, free TV + Netflix + Internet. PRENSARIO studied this trend a couple of reports behind, and called it BYOP, 'Bring your own programming', playing with the IT enterprise trend name. The simultaneity is not casual, is a fact.

Internet of Things

Very new in the IT enterprise business is Internet of Things:

tivo'. Esto quiere decir que con el auge de las notebooks, smartphones y tablets, los ejecutivos de las empresas cada vez más usan sus propios equipos en lugar de los que les dan para trabajar. Esto genera enormes desafíos de operatoria y seguridad, porque los usuarios se los llevan a sus casas, los pueden perder, comparten la información de trabajo con la personal, bajan archivos no chequeados, etc.

En contenidos, esto se ve con el auge del on demand, y la tendencia de los usuarios a armar su propia programación. Que en lugar de ver canales fijos como en el pasado, van eligiendo no sólo programas sino también sistemas para armar su propio 'combo'. Por ejemplo, TV abierta + Netflix + Internet. PRENSARIO analizó esto un par de informes atrás, y lo denominó BYOP, 'Bring your own programming'; jugando con la tendencia TI. La simultaneidad no es casualidad, es un hecho.

INTERNET OF THINGS

Muy nuevo en el TI empresarial es Internet of Things: que los productos y objetos de la vida cotidiana empiezan a tener chips y sensores volviéndose inteligentes, interactuando a través de la red con nosotros o un sistema central de administración. Entonces, con tono futurista, se dice que uno puede llamar desde su automóvil al horno de su hogar para que caliente la comida en el momento justo para cuando uno llegue, y así. En las empresas, permite por ejemplo que un parque de impresoras avise de falta de insumos o averías, o una empresa de camiones pueda seguir a la distancia la temperatura de las cargas para mantener la calidad, etc.

daily products and objects start to include chips and sensors, to get smarter. They begin to interact through Internet with us or with a monitoring/administration system. So, it is said that in the near future, you'll be able to phone your oven to warm the dinner for just the moment you arrive. About enterprise features, it lets for instance one of hundred of printers of a company, to ask for new ink or machine repairs, when a problem happens; or a logistic firm can monitor the temperature of its products while they are driven in trucks, to assure quality, etc.

In content, we see this trend directly on Smart TV sets and interactive TV as a whole. The users have more and more options of applications, twists, to interact with the old screen. For instance, if they are watching a football match, with a couple of clicks in the remote control they can buy on real time shirts of the team or tickets for the next match. Or when they are watching HBO's Game of Thrones, to go deeper in its magic world or check independent stories written about.

Social Networks

They are the other recent big hit of the IT industry. With them, for the first time in History, it is inverted the flow of massive communications. In the past, it was always from providers to users; now these ones can not only answer, but also generate trends, changes and processes.

For companies this a new key factor, because when they launch a

En contenidos, el reflejo directo de esto sin duda son los Smart TV y la TV interactiva en general. Los usuarios cada vez tienen más aplicaciones, botones para interactuar con la vieja pantalla. Si ven un partido de fútbol, que puedan clickeando comprar camisetas del equipo o entradas para los próximos encuentros, o al ver 'Game of Thrones' de HBO, puedan bucear en tiempo real en los mundos de la historia y toda la bibliografía creada alrededor.

REDES SOCIALES

Son el otro gran golpe reciente de la industria IT. Por primera vez en la historia, se ha invertido el sentido de la comunicación masiva. Antes siempre iba de los proveedores a los usuarios, hoy estos pueden no sólo contestar sino desatar product or a service, network comments can define the success or failure of the venture, and the executives interacting with people, can modify their destiny on the row. Big firms have created special structures to search social networks, and enlisted 'community managers' to drive interactions. A smart manager can take a wave of disgusted comments and turned them to positive sensations, if the company shows rapid response and service.

todo tipo de corrientes y procesos.

A las empresas esto es crucial, porque cuando lanzan un producto o servicio, los comentarios de las redes pueden definir el éxito o el fracaso, o aportar datos para cambiar el destino sobre la marcha. Las firmas grandes han creado estructuras sólo para seguir las redes sociales, y tomado 'Community Managers' para manejar la interacción. Un manager hábil puede lograr que una oleada de quejas, se convierta en sensaciones positivas si muestra comprensión, reacción rápida y servicio. No hace falta marcadr cómo todo esto aplica fuerte al mercado de contenidos. Las redes sociales generan una interacción inédita entre los productores, directores y actores de los programas con el público, y más allá de los números de ratings, el feedback en tiempo real pasa a ser un gran bastión para manejar. Incluso, se usan como herramientas para generar debate, polémicas, que alimenten el contenido en sí. Ya hay empresas de servicios como Applicaster, que han creado aplicaciones para uso sistemático de las redes sociales dentro del contenido, tanto entretenimiento como ficciones, generando productos alternativos multipantalla u opciones impensadas en el pasado, como que un usuario pueda llamar a un personaje de una ficción y le diga qué hacer, en tiempo real.

UN NUEVO UNIVERSO

Como balance, lo importante para marcar es que con todo esto que avanza, el mercado de contenidos evoluciona hacia nuevos ámbitos

It is not necessary to stress how much this applies to content market. Social networks have generated unique interaction between the audience with actors, directors and producers. Beyond rating figures, real time feedback is a huge, new pillar to manage. Also, debates, scandals can be used as tools to gross the success of content.

There are digital TV services companies as Applicaster, that have created applications to systematically use social network inside content, both fiction and entertainment. They generate extra multiscreen products or before-unthinkable options, as a viewer calling a fiction actor on real time, to tell them what to do during a plot challenge.

A new Universe

As an outcome, the important thing to stress is that, with all of these trends going forward, content business evolves towards fully disruptive scenarios. What today seems to be edging or innovative, in few years can be common or just an early step of deeper ones. We are not talking about SciFi future, we talk about the logical evolution of matters already held now.

Let's combine in a fast exercise, the four big IT trends we've stressed: with Cloud, a lot of touchable products will be able to be delivered 'as a service', remotely; with BYOP, the users (ex viewers) decide on every step what they take; with Internet of Things, every object gets smart and interacts with us; with social networks, communications turn multi-way, every direction on real time. What a world we'll have...

totalmente disruptivos frente a lo actual, donde mucho de lo que hoy parece innovador, será cosa simple en el futuro, o el primer paso de desarrollos mucho más profundos. No hablamos de futurología, sino de seguir lo que ya existe. Combinemos en un ejercicio rápido las cuatro tendencias IT marcadas: con el cloud, mucho lo que hoy son productos físicos podrá entregarse 'como servicio' en forma remota; con el BYOP, los usuarios deciden a cada paso qué toman; con Internet of Things, todo lo inerte se vuelve inteligente e interactúa; y con las redes sociales, las comunicaciones se vuelven multivía hacia todas direcciones en tiempo real. Content market, new opportunities to take in mind

NBCUniversal (USA), RTL (Germany) and TF1 (France) signed last MIPTV a co-production partnership to generate procedural TV series in USA: Fabrice Bailly, programming director, and Sophie Leveaux, artistic director & acquisitions, TF1; Joerg Graf, head of acquisitions, RTL; Michael Edelstein, president, NBCUniversal International TV Productions; Benoit Louvet, EVP, TF1; and Joann Alfano, EVP, scripted programming, NBCUniversal International TV Productions

The content events of this year, especially MIPTV, have stressed new or progressive market opportunities, which are important to mention facing this Mipcom. Here you have...

—A programming gap has appeared between the U.S. production and Europe. Due to pay TV competition, free TV and U.S. studios are producing more cable-alike content, and this is not good for big European broadcasters, which like more traditional free TV genres. A direct response has been the announcement at MIPTV of a co-production deal between NBCUniversal Productions (USA)

TF1 (France) and RTL (Germany) to generate 3 procedural TV series (as SCI, Columbo, etc.) in English and in USA, during two years. It is just the genre claimed in Europe, which is hardly produced now in America. This trend opens strong opportunities for fiction players of the world, to fill the gap.

—We are in a great moment for fiction. Though entertainment formats continue as the main target for most of the industry, today the big format players are making focus on scripted, as Fremantlemedia, ITV, Zodiak, Shine Endemol, etc. and also traditional factual channels as A+E, Discovery, etc. They say that fiction is the new thing, with more growth potential. This opens too many opportunities for emergent markets with fiction tradition, and it is a pillar of the new digital era, as digital VOD platforms are clearly focused on scripted pieces.

—There is now in the market, a systematic search for fresh product, genre and plot twists. It is said that a strong lack of creativity weakens entertainment format market, so for instance it is important to renew the realities, to create options as real time dating shows, 'back in time' shows, etc. A lot of factual and cooking shows are seen this year. This also opens doors to new players worldwide, as fresh product is usually supposed from new origins.

—Now we have, yes, a fully global market. It is not only about looking for product worldwide... new countries are considered one step ahead in different genre/niches, as at MIPTV Japanese producers were named the most original ones in entertainment formats (out of the box); MIPTV made official focus on the Nordic countries, as a new pole of opportunities; public TV channels of Austria and China drove the edge on 4K documentaries, Canada is an icon in digital content, Russia is a referent in historical series, Czech Republic in detective stories, Spain and Latin America in fiction formats, and this way.

—What is the new thing in New Media? We have more and more digital platforms being launched everywhere. In Israel for instance, till this year there were two VOD players, one from TV cable and the other from satellite. At the end of this year, there will be six players, adding four new OTT/IPTV systems. This obliges to produce far more content than in the past.

Last MIPTV Focus on the Nordics: Annie Wegelius, director of programs, SVT; Casten Almqvist, CEO and president, TV4; Anders Jensen, EVP of the MTG's Scandinavian Free-TV & radio operations, and Magnus Mandersson, EVP, Ericsson, all from Sweden; and Hikki Rotkom, CEO, MTV Media from Finland (copyright: Reed Midem)

The VOD platforms, meanwhile, look for new business models to make a difference vs. the traditional S-VOD of Netflix. One case is Movistar Series TV in Spain, which wants to handle the newest and most important TV series of the market, to be a premium TV series channel, but not linear. There is a lot to work on the matter.

To survive in the new multiscreen era, industry experts urge to stress brands. Tim Pastore, president, original programming & production, National Geographic Channels, USA: 'If content is the king, brand is the castle. Kings come and go, the castles stay. Brands play a huger role than ever before'.

Vikings TV series is a proof of the new era: it was produced by Canada and Ireland for History Channel; an original fiction in a traditional documentary, factual pay TV channel

European drama: co-production is a hot topic

Co-production has become a key word in the nowadays-audiovisual industry. All across the globe, companies join forces to co-develop, co-finance and co-produce different types of shows, from drama series to documentaries, movies and kids series.

This has been happening for many reasons, but three are on top: first, to gather funds from many parts allow the producers to have a better quality product; second, to have different countries working all together helps the project to be screened in different territories; third, the alliances are not anymore lineal (broadcasters-producers; producers-distributors), they include a whole community of players increasing and diversifying the number of players involved in a project.

Producers are interested in putting their stories on the table; broadcasters looking for fresh ideas for their channels; and distributors searching the next big hit to sale. It is definitely a win-win situation for everybody.

All this without mentioning the dynamic digital platforms, which are very active in all the stages, but specially in producing and broadcasting (VOD, SVOD, Streaming, Mobile); as well as the 360-degree developers: licenses, merchandising, live shows, music, etc. This is something very common on the kids market.

During NATPE Europe, held in June in Prague, the organizer gathered the top broadcasters from UK to talk about this hot topic: Ben Donald, executive producer, international drama, BBC Worldwide; Simon Maxwell, head of international drama, Channel 4; Anne Mensah, head of drama, Sky; Claude Chelli, producer Versailles, Capa Drama-Newen Subsidiary; and the international producer, Eric Welbers.

Humans, Channel 4 and AMC had 3.2 million of viewers during the premier

All of them remarked that this is a 'great time' for international co-productions, and exemplified: Humans, which gathered Channel 4 and AMC (USA); Penny Dreadful, in which Sky and Showtime joined; and The Refugees, where British BBC and Spanish La Sexta have worked for the first time ever.

Chelli: 'Versailles has cost €27 million and had several partners involved, starting with us, as producers, Canal + (France), as the broadcasters, and Zodiak Rights (UK) as distributor. We generated a very successful a high-end period production thanks to this alliance, assembling strategic pieces all together'.

Maxwell said that Humans is a sci-fi thriller that had 3.2 million of viewers during the premier in June 21. 'We are planning to continue with this strategy, looking for global partners. We aim to produce 2-3 projects per year, always interested in edgy and risky productions, which is our focus', he added.

Mensah believes that co-production is a 'natural way' of evolution of the content business. 'Penny Dreadful was a huge success in both, the US and UK, as well as internationally. Sky Atlantic is now working on The last Panthers, the second coproduction with Canal + (after The Tunnel), which is being shot in the Balkans 50% in English and 50% in original language. It is developed and co-produced by Haut et Court TV (The Returned) and Warp Films ('71, This is England)'.

Donald highlights the first co-production with Spain, The Refugees. 'There are more pan-European co-productions, and we are planning new ventures and alliances in other territories. We have found great ideas and partners to work with'.

All the executives agreed that there must be 'British elements' to first satisfy the local audience. 'Creative is first, finance later', they remarked. Welbers, who was involved in the international production area of Beta Film (Germany), said: 'There is a larger competition from the distributors to get the global rights of co-produced series. Now it is much more complicated to get those rights.'

And he concludes about the German market: 'The German market is different, as we now have Netflix, HBO and TNT on one side, and the 90% of national broadcasters on the other, depending on the US series. Public TV is very active, as well. Even that, the projects for international co-productions continue strong'.

BBC: 'It is not about the cost, but the ambition of the idea'

Jessica Pope, executive producer, BBC Drama Production, along with the stars of The Musketeers: Santiago Cabrera, Tom Burke, Howard Charles, and Luke Pasqualino

In a series of interviews made by BBC Worldwide to strategic executives from different areas of the BBC, PRENSARIO publishes below the one to Jessica Pope, executive producer, BBC Drama Production, who speaks about cost, ideas and the necessary passion to tell a story, as well as about The Musketeers.

'Programs don't have to be expensive to work and be important to viewers. It is not so much about the cost, but the ambition of the idea and the passion with which the filmmaker wants to tell the story. TV is becoming a truly global medium. For example, 5 years ago in the UK, it was still very much a domestic market but recently we have become more familiar and comfortable with stories from other cultures', she remarks.

'This is also influenced by how consumption habits have changed. Nowadays, it is much easier to gain access to content from other countries, you can download programs from Australia, Denmark or USA at the same time. It is up to us as program makers to embrace this 'freshness' and see it as an opportunity. We want to be ambitious with the drama content we are producing. We want to create content that resonates with a number of different cultures and bring our expertise in storytelling to other places'.

About The Musketeers, in which Pope is working on season 3 until November, she says: 'It is hugely successful around the world because first and foremost it is already a brand, thanks to the well-known novel which many people have read or are familiar with. But more than that, the core story of The Musketeers is a human one. It is a story about heroes, bravery, courage, honor, and love. It has a very optimistic feeling to it, which people respond well to'.

'Drama is about creating emotion, it is about making people feel things which I believe the show does. On top of that The Musketeers has a lot of action, it's almost in the action genre. It is a perfect piece of television, building on a story that people know through their own tales from Latin America to Germany and hopefully we have reinvented it in a way that makes it relevant for this century and viewers globally'.

There are many unique qualities of the BBC. Pope enumerates: 'We've been doing it for a long time and have some of the best writers in the industry —it is that expertise that really feeds into how well we tell stories. There is also a very large talent base that we can draw from in the UK'.

'The other thing that makes the BBC special is that it is not a commercial broadcaster. The stories we can tell aren't necessarily restricted by sales or audit figures. Many other broadcasters for example don't invest in short-form drama however we can also tell the smaller stories, create long-form content or produce one-off movies'.

'Overall, it is important to offer scale and ambition to audiences. Today's viewers are very sophisticated, for example they are influenced by the production value of big blockbuster action movies, and it is difficult for television to level with that- Where it can compete, is to create a content experience that brings audiences back week after week, that has a lot action and humor and is fun for viewers to watch. However, programs don't have to be expensive to work and be important to viewers', concludes Pope.

Patricia Marco, directora de Antena, Mediaset España

Mediaset España fue en junio el grupo televisivo líder en España con 31,5% de cuota de pantalla, mientras que su canal insignia Telecinco ha sido la cadena más vista de la temporada 2014-2015 (1 de septiembre de 2014 a 30 de junio de 2015) con un 14,8% de cuota de pantalla, seguida de Antena 3 (13,5%) y La1 de TVE (10%), de acuerdo al balance del curso publicado por Barlovento Comunicación sobre datos de Kantar Media.

PENSARIO quiso conocer las claves de ese liderazgo (10 meses consecutivos en el primer puesto), y para eso entrevista a Patricia Marco, directora de Antena de Mediaset España: 'Somos un grupo de canales dirigido a un público diferente cada uno de ellos, que se complementan en contenidos y target para sumar audiencia, oferta e inversión publicitaria. Entre todos sumamos un soporte de comunicación de gran solidez y variedad. Hemos cerrado la temporada televisiva con un liderazgo histórico del 31,5% de share'.

Prosigue: 'Telecinco tiene una propuesta generalista construida sobre los gustos del telespectador español y con un objetivo: generar historias exclusivas que sólo se puedan consumirse en dicho canal. Cuatro es un canal de segunda generación con una oferta joven y urbana, rica en cine y series y formatos de entretenimiento propios'.

'El grupo de canales temáticos tiene una oferta basada en series y formatos factual: Factoría de Ficción es el más visto de España (25-54 años) con el humor como factor principal en series y cine; Divinity es para mujeres (16-54 años); Energy está dirigido a hombres; y Boing es el canal comercial líder en público infantil (4-12 años)'.

Según Marco, Telecinco es líder 'esencialmente por hacer una televisión viva, en directo, conectada al público y a sus gustos y, sobre todo, por crear contenidos propios y exclusivos que solo se pueden encontrar en este canal'. El broadcaster está primero en informativos entre todas las cadenas; ofrece también El programa de Ana Rosa y Sálvame, magazines matinal y vespertino; el concurso diario Pasapalabra, series de comedia y drama, y los realities que son los más vistos de la televisión en España. Emitire en septiembre el Eurobasket y continua con los amistosos de la Selección Española de Fútbol.

'En ficción, desde El Príncipe a Anclados y series de referencia como La que se avecina o Los Nuestrós. En entretenimiento, realities como Gran Hermano o Supervivientes y talents como La Voz, La Voz kids, o Pequeños Gigantes y de programas como Sálvame Deluxe', añade la ejecutiva.

'En Cuatro marcamos tendencia en formatos coaching Hermano mayor, Supernanny; de reporterismo Conexión Samanta, En la caja, 21 días, o dating shows como Quién quiere casarse con mi hijo, Un príncipe para o el revolucionario Adán y Eva. Respecto a los temáticos, combinamos los quick repeat de nuestros formatos más destacados de Telecinco y Cuatro, junto a librería de series y cine y factuales dirigidos a cada tipo de público/canal'.

Sobre el mercado, indica: 'Nuestro público desea que le cuenten historias cercanas con las que se sientan identificados, pero también que le sorprendan. Tenemos una exigencia permanente hacia la innovación y la renovación. El espectador español se decanta mayoritariamente por el consumo en pantalla de televisión, aunque cada vez empieza a ser más usual el consumo a través de internet'.

En Mediaset ha sido un éxito la plataforma Mitele, es que ha tenido 6 millones de navegadores únicos mensuales y se han visionado 61 millones de videos al mes a través de Mitele.es, Telecinco.es, Cuatro.com y Divinity.es, así como 10 millones de sesiones de TV en directo mensuales (datos Omniture auditados por OJD). El consumo diferido (Time Shift) todavía es muy poco relevante en el mercado español.

'Estamos evolucionando a la creación de contenidos convergentes en multipantalla. Crear la programación que nos mantenga en el liderazgo del sector para las marcas en TV, Internet y mobile es el objetivo principal. Nuestro contenido es demandado por otras plataformas y desde hace años y su venta forma parte de nuestra línea de negocio, así como la producción audiovisual Campeonatos del Mundo de Motociclismo para Movistar+ o la venta de publicidad para terceros', concluye Marco.

La serie El Príncipe totalizó 4,48 millones de televidentes y una cuota de pantalla de 23,1% en junio, según datos de Kantar Media

MTG: 'TV is still the king'

The new viewer habits in the Scandinavian territories, based on two reports from Modern Times Group (MTG).

According to Jette Nygaard-Andersen, EVP of Nordic Pay TV at MTG, Pay TV continues to show a 'healthy growth' in the region with an increase of sales of 8% in 9M14 and 10% in Q314, and from 15% to 19% of the EBIT during the same period. 'However, the digital services, especially IPTV, have been boosting hugely during the last years, both in options for consumers and business opportunities', she remarks.

Consumption of Internet, games and content through mobile devices has seen a substantial growth compared to conventional platforms such as the cinema, radio and print. In the last 10 years, Nordic countries have seen a growth of 20% of the IPTV subscribers and open fiber connected homes expected to continue growing up to a 50% before 2018.

'We are on track with the plan to transform our business and drive the industry's digital transition', resumes Nygaard-Andersen, who highlights the evolution of its online services under Viaplay brands: 'Our Play channels subscribers grew 91% since 2013 but we still have a large potential in the region, with an addressable market of 12m households in Sweden thanks to the SVOD penetration. In one year SVOD subscribers grew a 33% in Nordic, reaching 3.5 million of households'.

This digital transition has established a 'unique eco-system'. She explains: 'Consumer has won a leading role like never before, with content targeted specifically for each type of viewer, and more local stories. The audience doesn't care how they see content, but what they see, especially the youngest'.

Following this concept, two elements have become the best partners: content and technology. She believes Viaplay will make MTG revenues and market share to growth: 'We offer a product in as much as possible platforms —we have strategic partnerships with Samsung, Xbox-Microsoft, Sony-PlayStation— and with the best content, such as premium sports, in which we lead, as well as a unique collection of kids, movies and series on Viaplay Premier'.

What is clear is that TV business is changing, and that has obligated MTG to analyze new strategies to reach these new consumers. The large migration of youth audiences from linear TV to digital media, which in 2014 saw a drop of 7% on viewers of 15 and 49 years and 13% in the target 15-24, generated an increase of content demand but it didn't met higher prices, producing a significant unbalance in the business.

Anders Jensen, EVP of Scandinavian Free TV and Radio, explains: 'Besides of increasing prices, we need to extend pool of ad hoc clients, offer more sales packages and accelerate the digital business'.

'TV is still King. It showed a return on investment of 1.8 points in 2014, being the most profitable platform over radio (1.6), press (1.5), online display (0.9) and "out of home" (0.5)'. In terms of reach, it has the superior percentage with almost a 90% of reach, even more than the total of Internet, Google, Facebook, Youtube and Twitter.

The executive is conscious that is important to recover the youthful audience and capitalize the growth of OTT video consumption, which has increased a 7% between 2011 and 2014. Thus, the Group decided to bet for the AVOD platform that provides consumers free-to-access content in exchange for viewing ads. Between 2010 and 2014 AVOD service from MTG grew a 33%, achieving a 38% of the market share in the Nordics. 'If we want to remain in pole position in this digital transition, we need to think beyond linear, establish new sales co-operations and work smarter', he highlights.

Nova TV, 15 years of success

George Makris, program director at Nova TV

Nova TV is the first commercial television network in Croatia, celebrating this year its 15th Anniversary. The group runs two national FTA channels, the flagship Nova TV and the specialized one Doma TV, as well as the pay channels Mini TV and Nova World.

George Makris, program director: 'We are the most watched media group in Croatia and both FTA channels hold the leading position, each in its own segment. Nova TV is the most watched generalist channel, while Doma TV has the highest audience share among specialized channels. Four years ago we have developed and launched the first SVOD platform, OYO. We were the first ones to adapt locally, global trends'.

'We have achieved business success with the most watched and independent news program,

Second series of No Matter What started in September. First season reached 35% audience share and it was also sold in over 30 countries as well as with our in-house production of high value domestic programs. This has always been our goal, not only to achieve popularity, but also to encourage the development of domestic content, which, thanks to our implementation of global trends and local knowledge, does not lag behind the most popular foreign products when it comes to quality and content. Nova TV group also invests in the production of foreign licensed formats, such as Your Face Sounds Familiar (54% audience share, most watched program in 2014), MasterChef and The Farm, etc.'

Nova TV has also sold its content to other markets: humor series No Matter What (35% audience share, the most watched TV series in Croatia in 2014 and 2015), has been sold in more than 30 countries around the world, either as a format or as a finished product. 'The series is among highest rated programs of leading channels in Serbia, Bosnia and Herzegovina and Slovenia. Second season started in September in Croatia. Lara's Choice achieved the biggest success so far, as we have sold it in nearly 40 countries worldwide', adds Makris.

'Media market in our country has been in a crisis for years now and its recovery will depend on the development of the economy. TV is still the queen of all media, with the highest added value for every advertiser. TV consumption is constantly growing, and in Croatia it is one of the highest in Europe. It is the only medium with a high-quality measurement in the local market that reaches each target group, combining 3 important elements: reach, spread and emotions'.

Trends? Answers Makris: 'High-quality production combined with humor currently works best. The most watched programs in the country are entertaining talent studio shows and domestic series from our own production. Formats like MasterChef on Nova TV, and The Voice on HRT had good results. Daily reality shows such as The Farm and Big Brother have not been aired for the last several years, but this fall they will have a comeback. Generally speaking, local daily fiction shows, big entertainment shows, daily reality shows and important sport events are key genres that drive the program schedules'.

Regarding digital, Makris concludes: 'There are many challenges regarding online and social media that we face as a multimedia group. Nova TV successfully operates numerous web portals and social media profiles, as well as SVOD OYO, which complements to TV as it enables the audience to watch TV shows before they air on TV and it offers them the option to watch the content they might have missed. There are also numerous movies, documentaries and TV shows'.

ORF: TV + OTT

Marion Camus-Oberdorfer, head of content sales

ORF-Enterprise is the commercial arm of the Austrian Broadcasting Corporation (ORF), Austria's public broadcaster and market leader. Marion Camus-Oberdorfer, head of content sales, explains: 'Austrian TV series Suburbia-Women on the edge created a sensational primetime success for ORF with a market share of 36% (12-49 years). It was sold in the whole German-speaking market and generated notable, with a weekly prime-time slot continuously generates market-shares of approximately 22%. It is ORF's best long-running documentary format'.

Special focus has been placed on high quality 4K documentaries from its well-known ORF Universum strand Making an Ancient Forest – Kalkalpen National Park Vanishing Kings - Vanishing Kings - Lions of the Namib or Lost City of the Gladiators, the series Fast Forward or Four Women and a Funeral, feature films and TV formats. All them have steadily provided remarkable ratings on the local market, and revenues on the international market.

'Austrian character of TV series and movies makes the productions very unique. Its special kind of humor and its very own way of storytelling gains great interest by media experts and media buyers internationally. Therefore ORF puts high efforts in supporting Austrian producers and strengthen the special kind of the Austrian cinematic art on the international TV-market'.

Regarding the Austrian market, Camus-Oberdorfer explains that since Netflix launched in September 2014, VOD and OTT are a 'massive' trend. She continues: 'We have a very small-scaled VOD market with many different platforms and even Netflix has not become the all-dominant market-leader. Differentiation is a main issue for placing content successfully in an OTT environment. For this reason, we have participated together with another subsidiary of ORF in a local VOD platform called Flimmit, focusing on local German speaking and European premium content. Our movies, series and quality documentaries are very well presented there'.

Suburbia – Women on the edge was a sensational success on ORF reaching a market share of 36%, which allows the series to be sold abroad

'In Austria, we do have a high weekly reach with our linear channels. Many people consume TV via satellite (+50%), cable networks are not so widespread in Austria (+20%) and on top of that Pay TV has not that market share than in many other places. Digital is the big issue for the future: we prepare and focus on the co-existence of TV and OTT. We already offer additional services based on new technologies like a 7-days-catch-up service, the ORF-TVthek, HbbTV apps and Flimmit', concludes Camus-Oberdorfer.

Ceska TV, strong dramas

Milan Fridrich, programming director, Ceska Televisi

The Czech market is one of the strongest in Central Europe with a global ad investment of USD 2,7 billion in 2014, according to Nielsen Admosphere. TV is the strongest media with 47% of the total.

However, different sources from the market consulted by PRENSARIO agreed that from the total expenditure, it must be consider the half of it after saves, fees for agencies, etc. This means that TV in a whole received in 2014 close to USD 650 million.

In that context, Ceska Televisi is the pubcaster conglomerate that enjoys the vice-leadership in the country, getting closer to its main commercial competitor. It run six TV channels: ČT1, ČT2 (documentary, movies, TV series), CT24 (news), CT Sports, CT :D (kids channel) and CT art.

Milan Fridrich, programming director, explains to PRENSARIO: 'Our position inside the Czech TV market was stable and strong in 2014 and during the first five months of this year. The top shows of this season on ČT1 have been the crime series Vraždy v kruhu and Případ pro exorcistu, as well as the late night show Všechnopárty, while in ČT2 we have sport content, movies and documentaries such us Příběh lidu Kalahari'.

Regarding trends, he stands: 'News and sport are strong in live sessions, while fiction is mainly crime series. The late night shows and big entertainment shows, such us Dancing with the stars, works very well, too. Domestic national production with Czech actors and Czech reality leads the market'.

Fridrich concludes: 'We are public TV group and we have limited other services — Internet, mobile, etc. — for only platform to put TV content through new distribution ways to audience: our website ceskatelevize.cz, the iPlayer iVysilani.cz, tablet and mobile applications and HbbTV'.

One of the top shows of this season on ČT1 has been the crime series Vraždy v kruhu

1+1 the boom of series production

Aleksander Tkachenko, CEO
1+1 media

1+1 Media Group is one of the four big media conglomerates in Ukraine, and comprises seven national TV channels: the flagship broadcaster 1+1, 2+2, TET, PLUSPLUS, Ukraine Today, UNIAN TV and Bigudi, as well as 1+1 International for Ukrainians living abroad. It also controls the production house 1+1 Production, and the online news platforms TSN.ua, UNIAN, Glavred.info, Telekritika and Dusia.

Aleksander Tkachenko, CEO of the group, explains to PRENSARIO: 'Nowadays Ukraine is going through a kind of revolution. Recently, imported Russian series were taking around 75% of prime-time, but now this number had dropped up to 20%'.

The executive highlights that Ukrainian channels have 'successfully' mastered the genre of entertainment format and news. He continues: 'We have an experience of creating high-quality projects including the adaptation of world top shows, such as X-Factor, The Voice and others'.

'These days we witness the boom of production of the series in different genres: comedian, soap operas, etc. Basically, it is the emergence of Ukrainian series production industry, this is the main trend. Fortunately, we have an experience in production of Ukrainian series, because about a quarter or even 30% of Russian series were produced in Ukraine. But it's still a new step for us'.

Tkachenko: 'Situation with the television business in Ukraine is not so positive. Most channels are unprofitable. There was a serious devaluation of the hryvnia, so we need to focus on the own production and on cheapening of the product on our resources'.

And he concludes: 'From the business point of view there are just a few opportunities: receiving payment from cable operators, but we don't have this practice in Ukraine; and the opportunity to sell our products abroad'.

Some of the top shows on 1+1 are the original series The last moskal and the third season of The Voice

Prima TV: online + on-air

Prima Broadcasting Group is one of the top media conglomerates in Romania, operating Prima TV since 1997, which airs local and international formats ranging from reality-shows to live talent programs.

Simona Mazilescu, COO: 'Our network is amongst the top 5 commercial broadcasters: top shows include the longest running reality-show in Romania Wife Swap, the longest running sitcom, Loonies, satirical show Cronica Carcotasilor and the stations' news broadcasts. We offer a mix of local formats (60%) and international acquisitions (40%)'.

'Romanian TV market is highly competitive, having 60+ local channels and a vast international offer. The market is, furthermore, extremely diversified and highly niched in its offerings. However, consumption of TV products is still high in Romania, as compared to other European countries. Local players are focusing on international formats and reality shows. Our main philosophy is in line with the audiences' preferences: reality shows, comedies, movies, telenovelas and a good mix of local and international content'.

About digital media, Mazilescu remarks: 'We are developing a number of innovative projects in this field ranging from interactive shows to on-demand offers. We currently have a very strong presence on all social media outlets and a good position with our online offerings. We strategically look for an expansion of our current online and on-air portfolio'.

'During 2Q 2015, we continue to focus on broadcasting real stories about real people, as part of the station's new programming philosophy. Reality-shows, game shows and other innovative formats will be part of our autumn programming', she concludes.

Lastly, Ines Turturica, a highly skilled executive in the content acquisition field, returned last April to Prima TV, where she had worked 18 years ago. Appointed as acquisition director, the executive's main focus is looking after new series and telenovelas from Latin America.

Bulgarian television is back to the roots

Everybody looks happy on the Bulgarian TV market, since there are two measurement agencies to account for viewership. The advertisers and media shops are the only ones to protest against this unusual situation, but it seems that they are slowly adapting to and dealing with the different pictures presented by the competing systems of GARB Audience Measurement and Nielsen Atmosphere (previously Mediaresearch and now part of the Nielsen group).

The only problem is that nobody could say what the real market situation is. GARB, which was accused in the past in favoring bTV Media Group, continues to report bTV's main channel as the indisputable market leader in primetime, while Nielsen, introduced to the country by the personal efforts of Nova's CEO Didier Stoessel, not surprisingly, gives the leadership to Nova.

The smaller channels get a bigger piece of the cake according to Nielsen, which presents a more dynamic and vital market visibly reacting to every new event on the media landscape. More static and conservative are the viewers according to GARB, which makes the domination of bTV difficult, if not impossible to be challenged. Anyway, nobody is complaining.

Producers working for Nova are finally happy to see their shows on the top of the charts,

The first Bulgarian edition of Married at first sight impressed the audience of Nova

Popular hosts Ivan and Andrey will introduce for the first time in Bulgaria The Farm on bTV

while bTV's shows are always the best rated, bringing joy of their authors and creators. And no one seems to mind the differences, sometimes varying up to 20 %, in reporting the viewership of the major channels.

Enthusiastic with the amazing performance of its own channels, Nova Broadcasting Group not only tries to diversify its offers in primetime, but also makes serious investments in developing its online presence after acquiring the digital company Netinfo, owner of the biggest local platform for video-sharing Vbox7. The newly established multi-channel network 7talents represents the first serious attempt of the media group to dominate the wild world of user generated content and make profit out of it.

Back on the TV screen several titles proved to be successful during the past spring and will most probably return in 2016: among them Your face sounds familiar (Endemol), Kitchen nightmares (All3Media) and Families on the crossroads (Red Arrow). Big results and expected second seasons for the social experiment Married at first sight (Red Arrow) and the local docu-reality Miss Cinderella (Old School Productions), which follows the stories of village women experiencing the luxurious city lifestyle.

Less impressive was the first season of the format I can do that (Armoza). For Nova the fall season already started, for the first time ever in summer, in the middle of August, with an ordinary Big Brother edition in primetime after a seven year hiatus. This strategic move has the clear purpose to give less breathing space to bTV's promotion of the first local edition of The Farm (Strix), which, on its part, represents bTV's attempt to deal once again, with Nova's strongest and most successful format, VIP Brother, scheduled to start immediately after Big Brother ends.

So, another upcoming proposal on Nova will be the romantic reality Farmer wants a wife, also aimed to exhaust the viewers' interest in farming, agriculture and bucolic life, challenging any danger on the part of The Farm.

The Farm would be the top proposal in bTV's fall schedule, striving to beat Nova in its own field of house-based reality formats. More successful than Big Brother in the neighboring Balkan countries, The Farm's local version was discussed many times in the past years but only now the format will have a Bulgarian edition. In the beginning of the year bTV started collaboration with Constantine Entertainment and the company established a local branch. This resulted in the successful first edition of Masterchef, which performed surprisingly good even according the ratings of Nielsen.

The new challenge for the new producer is rumored to be Radna akcija, a Serbian house renovation format similar to the popular US show Extreme house makeover. bTV will continue to rely on Turkish series in primetime, although the big interest towards them is slowly, but steadily declining. Speaking of fiction, the production of the long-running local series Citizens in excess will continue, while two other projects seems to be under development: a local medical drama and a version of the hit telenovela Kud puklo da puklo, originally produced by the Croatian Nova TV.

It is still not clear if the modern comedy-drama Connections, aired in June with good results, will have new episodes. A green light is expected for another project with the status of urban legend: a local black comedy set in the 19th Century and dealing with the always problematic topic about the Bulgarians under Ottoman rule. Proposing the show could be a very important step in a landscape where local creativity is almost reduced to zero.

The other players have not much to offer this year. TV7 is still struggling with financial issues, while the state-owned BNT continues to refuse to compete with the commercial leaders, loosing ratings and social influence, and rigidly cemented in interpreting its social function as a sphere in which the entertainment, even the factual one, has no place. Anyway, some excitement is expected also on the public broadcaster, which will host the 2015 edition of the Eurovision song contest for kids. For this upcoming event BNT, without stating any reasons, invited bTV to join and carry out the production of the local selections for the contest, securing in this way some programming in summer for the market leader. This fall BNT will also introduce the competition The manuscript (a format of Rai Tre), dedicated to wannabe writers and their future novels: another choice, full with good intentions and social responsibility, but placing serious distances between the public television and the mass audience.

BNT will host the Junior Eurovision song contest on 21st of November in Sofia's Arena Armeec Hall

In October is set to be launched a new info and current affairs channel targeting Bulgarians abroad under the guidance of former CNN anchor Ralitsa Vassileva. What kind of content it will carry is still to be seen, but for the Bulgarians staying put over here it's clear that the village is "the order of the day". With The Farm, Farmer wants a wife, a rural Big Brother and the new wave of docu-realities set all around the country, Bulgarian viewers will be kept far away from the shiny studios and the city lights. But how deep are they going to dig in the roots? We'll watch and see.

- 4 - Will you be commissioning original online content?

Amazon (UK)

Matt Newman, Head of Content Acquisitions

- 2- We look for shows with quirky comedy that have global AVOD rights available. Short, non-dialogue shows have been doing quite well for us, but other formats have been successful too. The content should be interesting enough for 8-10 year olds, but safe for younger siblings to watch too.

Televisa, entertainment is the new norm

Ricardo Ersham, head of global entertainment

Even when Televisa Internacional (Mexico) has gained worldwide recognition as a leader in the development of telenovelas and dramas, it has started two years ago a new strategy focused on the production of quality entertainment formats for the international market.

Ricardo Ersham, head of global entertainment: 'Two years ago we had 3-4 entertainment formats that we only used in Mexico to complete our programming grid and a catalog of telenovelas, but not much else. Today, thanks to a series of agreements and strategic alliances, we have about 30'.

Among the most important agreements signed is the one with La Competencia (Spain) for Stand Up For Your Country, talent show sold in 20 countries including Scandinavia, Russia, South Africa, Poland, Spain, Brazil and Argentina, among others. In TVN Poland, the local version Aplauz, Aplauz! produced by Rochstar was the leader on its premier with 15.5% of share, as well as 20,000 comments on Twitter. Pequeños Gigantes was sold in 12 countries in total, including Portugal and Poland, and will be soon rela-sed in Italy and Vietnam. In Portugal, the show is on mid-season getting great results: on Sunday 13 it reached 35.6% on the leading network TVI.

At MIPCOM, Televisa presents a slate of new formats where it stands The Wacky Old Games, a gameshow in which different teams must realize several funny competitions related to local games. And Mini-Me, where celebrities must find their 'mini' successors. 'Telenovelas will remain the be the strong bet of Televisa, but to be a 100% key player in the international industry, we must also be strong in entertainment, and we've found that we can be, with shows broadcasted with very good results in terms of audience around the globe', says Ersham.

'We continue pushing the game show Assembly Games, Generation Gap, recently premiered on Canal de las Estrellas, and Recuerda y Gana, original formats from United Artists Media, from producer Mark Gurnet. And we continue to seek global formats and innovative ideas', he concludes.

Stand Up For Your Country, talent show coproduced with La Competencia (Spain)

Little Giants is a huge success in Portugal and Poland

Construir TV: global & digital

Alejandra Marano, executive director Incluidos

Construir TV (Argentina) has become an alternative TV network that combines excellent technique with quality entertainment and social conscience, where workers are the stars. For CIS countries, China, MENA and The Balkans, the distributor of the company's production is ITV Inter Medya (Turkey).

In Argentina, the channel has recently been incorporated to the DirecTV's line-up in a slate of 4 hours. 'This is an immediate solution that kicked a strategy that has as its main objective the distribution channel throughout the country', explains Alejandro Marano, executive director, who also adds that it is currently in negotiations with Cablevision and distributing encoders to the smaller cable operators from the country.

She continues: 'We are also working hard on the digital strategy, trying to bring our message to the global community with related but broader interests'.

To strengthen this strategy, Construir TV launched its own free VOD service, with the highlights of the month and projects focused especially for the platform. It stands Incluidos (13x'30), a show focused on "disability" and working with a positive outlook; Construcción del Imperio Inca, filmed in Peru; Birthday, which brings together a group of people to realize a birthday party to kids that haven't got the possibility to realize their own parties, and Deportistas Fuera de Serie.

Among the new products, the executive recommends three 13x'30 series that mixes work, social and entertainment. 'The first one will be focused on Argentinean inventors, while Oficios contra el Crimen describes the problematic of the police. And Recursos Humanos en Riesgo, a show about employment discrimination that search to educate and help', concludes Marano.

Peter Iacono, president, International TV & Digital Distribution

Lionsgate International (USA) has become in recent years a powerful series producer and distributor, not just for American TV networks and Pay TV channels, but also globally.

Currently the company has 34 TV shows on 22 networks spanning its primetime production, distribution and syndication businesses, including hits as the multiple Emmy Award-winning Mad Men and Nurse Jackie, the comedy Anger Management, the network series Nashville, the syndication success The Wendy Williams Show and Orange is the New Black (Netflix).

In Cannes, Peter Iacono, president, International TV & Digital Distribution, recommends a slate of new series headed by Casual (10x'30), an endearing, quirky comedy about a pair of siblings collectively facing the challenges of dating, love and family drama.

In dramas, it stands The Royals (20x'60), set in modern-day England and which follows the lives of a fictional British Royal family that inhabits a world of opulence and regal tradition catering to any and every desire. While Chasing Life (34x'60) is a drama that follows twenty-something young lady, a smart and quick-witted aspiring journalist, as she works to balance a fledgling career, her family, friends and love life.

Other highlights at MIPCOM are the drama Manhattan (23x'60), set against the backdrop of the greatest clandestine race against time in the history of science with the mission to build the world's first atomic bomb in Los Alamos, New Mexico. And the reality series Monica The Medium (10x'60), focused in a twenty-one year old girl just like any other, juggling schoolwork, friends, boys and dating. Phileas launch Road Diaries

Road Diaries, brand new factual entertainment format for MIPCOM

Spanish prodco Phileas Productions and Modern Times Group (MTG) launches the new factual entertainment format Road Diaries, on air since September on MTG's Free TV channel TV3 in Latvia. The format concept is based around the increasingly popular trend of ridesharing, which is said to change the way people travel. Disney, biopics y coproducciones

El nutrido equipo de ventas y marketing de Disney Media Networks Latin America, en los estudios de Burbank durante su presentación para la región en los últimos LA Screenings 2015

Disney Media Distribution Latin America (DMD), brazo de distribución internacional de The Walt Disney Company, sigue apostando por el fortalecimiento de su catálogo de la mano de las biopics y las coproducciones, nueva gran tendencia que vislumbran en el mercado.

De cara a MIPCOM, Fernando Barbosa, SVP, destaca la serie Hasta que te conocí - Juan Gabriel (15x'60), que es la primera de una importante lista de biopics que la compañía presentó en la pasada edición de LA Screenings para América Latina. 'Del estudio tenemos 31 series, y apostamos particularmente por los dramas The Catch y The Family y la comedia Granfathered con John Stamos'.

Otros formatos destacados de la compañía son Code Black (13x'60), drama médico con la ganadora del Oscar Marcia Gay Harden; Quantico (13x'60), sobre un grupo de jóvenes reclutas del FBI; y la serie de "falso documental" The Muppets (13x'30), que retrata la vida tras bambalinas de los personajes creados por Jim Henson en la década del '70.

Leonardo Aranguibel, director de producción, añade sobre Hasta que te conocí: 'Juan Gabriel es un ícono en Hispanoamérica, como compositor y cantante: él mismo es coproductor de la serie con nosotros y Somos TV, con servicios de producción de BTF en México. Ya está comisionada en Telemundo, Azteca y TNT a nivel panregional. Hay una tendencia hacia las biografías y hacia allí vamos'.

Además en julio se estrenó Los Años Dorados, coproducida con GCO Entretenimiento y UCV TV de Chile. 'Nuestras producciones en América Latina se venden muy bien internacionalmente. Gustan en la audiencia porque reflejan el quehacer cotidiano de los latinos: por ejemplo, A Corazón Abierto se vio en 20 mercados, algunos de ellos doblados a otros idiomas. La audiencia se ha acostumbrado a 6-10-13-20 episodios. El mercado está maduro y listo para este producto', completó el ejecutivo.

Band: tailor made content

Elisa Ayub, director of international contents

Band Contents Distribution, a division of Grupo Bandeirantes (Brazil), is expanding its business worldwide with an offer of high quality content.

How? According to Elisa Ayub, director of International Contents, the answer is simple: 'tailor made content'. 'The company identifies and analysis the needs from each client, offering the product more adapted from the catalog, which has many genres like telenovelas, series, documentaries, reality shows, etc.'.

Heading the offer at MIPCOM is the cartoon series in 4K UHD Wacky TV (13x'11), ah show that jumps into the backstage of a network and shows the most unexpected situations of what happens "on air" and "off air". Also a cartoon series, but for young adults, is SkiVvy Man (26x'2), centered in a 30 years-old superhero who lives in the outskirts of a big city and is usually called to solve simple cases.

Starz: ‘Creating non-traditional opportunities’

Mara Winokur, SVP, Digital

Starz Digital is one of the three entities of the distribution arm of Starz (USA). The other two are Anchor Bay (Home Video) and Starz Worldwide Distribution (linear television sales). Mara Winokur, SVP, Digital heads up the digital team that handles transactional distribution (EST/TVOD), and SVOD and AVOD licensing for all properties —owned or licensed— for which the company has digital rights.

She describes: ‘We work in tandem to maximize the financial and strategic value of our properties and of the Starz brand as a whole. So, rather than set an overall “one-size-fits-all” strategy for our content, we evaluate all opportunities on a territory-by-territory, case-by-case basis, and we move quickly to get deals done’.

‘Because we own much of the content we distribute (rather than representing a separately owned network as many distributors do), we are open to creating non-traditional opportunities for our international partners that others may not be able to’, ensures.

At MIPCOM, Starz brings three new properties. Inspired by the movie of the same name, The Girlfriend Experience (13x’60) that follows a second year law student working hard to establish herself in a prestigious firm. In Ash vs Evil Dead Bruce Campbell represents a chainsaw-wielding monster hunter from The Evil Dead, and Flesh and Bone is an 8-episode limited series, written and executive produced by Moira Walley-Beckett (Breaking Bad).

‘In addition we are presenting our first Starz original movie with the period piece The Dresser, based on the award-winning play of the same name, and starring Ian McKellen and Anthony Hopkins. And of course we’re bringing back new seasons of our worldwide hits Black Sails, Power and Survivor’s Remorse. We believe all these properties are globally appealing and we’re looking forward to sharing them with everyone’, completes Winokur.

Filmax bets on TV dramas

Ivan Diaz, head of international division

In recent years, Filmax (Spain) has really set its sights on the TV market and after the success of the production and commercialization of The Red Band Society, the company has proved itself as one to watch in the industry.

The company arrives to MIPCOM with several new projects to present. Over the top of Filmax’s proposal is the ambitious new TV production I Know Who You Are, a high-concept drama/thriller billed by the company as the next big European event-series. Ivan Diaz, head of the international division, explains:

‘Produced for Mediaset Spain, the series marks a significant step forward for the company in the TV industry. The show will be an intense crime thriller, centered on the hunt for a missing young girl, and is brought to us by the same creative team behind the phenomenally successful The Red Band Society.

‘This is a compelling series which I’m sure will do just as well overseas as in Spain. It’s a real indicator of the kind of high-quality fiction that is being produced in Europe right now’, ensures Diaz.

But the company not only had been working on I Know Who You Are. It also, for the first time in the company’s history, adapted a foreign format for the Spanish domestic market. Filmax produced the first season of Dates, originally an E1 format for Channel 4 (UK) for TV3 (Televisió de Catalunya). Lastly, other highlights in its catalogue for MIPCOM include the series Hotel Almirante and the docu-tainment So Good.

‘Our aim is to produce one to two series a year, whether they be in-house projects or collaborations and co-productions with other production houses... always with an international projection in mind’, concludes Diaz.

A+E, from factual to scripted

Mayra Bracer, head of sales, Latin America

Mayra Bracer, head of sales for Latin America A+E Networks (USA), describes the strategy of the company traditionally known for the quality of its factual formats and now advocated to scripted content: '2015 has been a difficult year in the region because of the economical crisis, but we could achieve our goals and grow between a 15 and 20% this year'.

According to the executive, Latin America is going through a time of change in their grills because of the explosion of the Turkish products and the growth of local production, opening the game to new competitors. 'Previously we had to compete only against other US companies, now we do it with Latin and internationals too', says Bracer.

How to overcome the crisis? 'We need strong products and strong business relationships with our customers', she responds and continues: 'We have become a niche company -in factual- to which customers come knowing that here will find quality content'.

While to date A+E has focused on the development of documentaries and docu-dramas, now is currently focusing on growing as dramas producer. In 2014 the company debuted with good results with the series Marilyn, Un-Real and Sons of Liberty, all sold in Latin American Pay TV channels and in conversations for Free TV.

Federico Facello, CEO: 'We created for Canal 9 Argentina two talent shows for prime time weekend: Tu Mejor Sábado and Tu Mejor Domingo. In Europe, it has agreements with 49 different TV operators in 14 countries, which include the international Italian channel in their cable, satellite and OTT offers.

In addition, the distributor introduces a slate of new series that includes drama, crime and anime. Find 'Creative Mexico' at ProMexico Creativity has always been a keystone of Mexican culture. Today Mexican creative industries contribute 7% to GDP, with revenues of USD 27 billion in 2014. For this reason the country's participation at MIPCOM is more significant each year; while Mexican companies are increasingly interested in taking part in the leading international trade fair for audiovisual content.

Creative industries in Mexico have notoriously grown and matured, as the country is one of the leading consumers of animation, videogames, and entertainment in general.

In terms of animation it is the leading market in Latin America, while in film consumption Mexico ranks among the top fifteen countries worldwide in terms of box office revenues.

This explains the success enjoyed in 2014 as MIPCOM's Country of Honour, attending with a 105 Mexican firm delegation, which led to exports amounting almost 84 million dollars and investments of some USD 88 million. In particular, the animation sector has attracted the attention with examples such as The Legend of La Llorona and Top Cat Begins, both developed by Ánima Estudios. No wonder Mexico is the world's sixth exporter of animation.

Mexico is recognized as Latin America's principal exporter of creative goods. For instance, the videogames industry is also a major engine of development: the country is one of the leading consumers of videogames. Demand for these products comprises some 56.6 million fans, of whom 28.4 million use a smartphone as their games console.

ProMexico is co-hosting MIP Cancun (Nov. 18-20, Cancun) which will offer international distributors the opportunity to meet regional buyers in a premium business environment featuring one-on-one tailor-made meeting schedules, and professionals the opportunity to discover the latest trends in content for TV.

Other highlight is the Malaysian version of A love to remember (135x'60), which was adapted by the production company Global Station for Astro. Marcel Vinay Jr., CEO, Comarex: 'This agreement was a milestone for us in Asia, where we have launched La Academia in Malaysia (9 seasons) and Indonesia. There will be more for 2016 and 2017, but we are still defining the titles'.

In Cannes, the company also presents the telenovelas UEPA: Un Escenario Para el Amor (120x'60), Las Bravo (120x'60), Prohibido Amar (90x'60), Corazon en Condominio (146x'60); the series The Man of Your Dreams (13x'60); and the formats I'm your Double (45x'60), Dance if you Can (40x'60) and La Academia Kids.

Comarex has added Canal 13 Chile catalogue of series to its line up, headed by Veinteañero a los 40 (130x'30), Valio la pena (95x'45), Free Pass (107x'45) centers in a seemingly "perfect" couple. Lastly, Freshman Mom (92x'45), Las Vegas (90x'45), Machos (151x'60), Papi Ricky (123x'45) and Gatas y Tuerkas (125x'60).

Mega: 'Estamos obligados a reinventarnos permanentemente'

Patricio Hernández, director ejecutivo, Mega

Mega es de enero a septiembre el canal líder de Chile con un rating hogar de 9 puntos de promedio, seguido de Chilevisión, Canal 13 y TVN. Tiene un activo 2015 y tendrá un aún más intenso 2016, ya que a fines de este año inaugurará la primera etapa de los estudios full HD en Vicuña Mackenna donde cuatro de ellos estarán dedicados a la producción de ficción in house.

‘Como parte del plan refundacional de Mega queremos producir el año próximo seis teleseries de desarrollo y producción propia, cuatro las haremos 100% nosotros en los nuevos estudios, y otras dos las tercerizaremos. Recientemente, adquirimos además los derechos deportivos más importantes: las Clasificatorias de fútbol y la transmisión del Mundial Rusia 2018’, resalta Patricio Hernández, director ejecutivo en conversación con PRENSARIO.

La información fluye a borbotones y Hernández se entusiasma con cada novedad de las distintas áreas que comanda en el canal líder chileno, parte del Grupo Bethia y el único sigue mostrando números positivos tanto en audiencia como en publicidad y, sobre todo, en solidez financiera.

‘Chile es un mercado con características únicas: cuatro canales compitiendo palmo a palmo. Aquí no se da respiro ni segundas oportunidades. Nosotros atravesamos una etapa de transición hacia la producción propia, pero combinando fuertemente con el mejor envasado internacional de Televisa y compañías turcas como Global Agency, Kanal D, ATV, entre otros’.

2014 fue un año complejo para la industria, que sufrió pérdidas por USD 59 millones, mientras que Mega fue el único canal que obtuvo ganancias. El mismo panorama se repitió en el primer semestre del año (USD 22 millones de pérdidas), elevando las alertas en todos los canales: TVN registró pérdidas por USD 8,8 millones, Chilevisión por USD 7,07 millones, y Canal 13, USD 6,20 millones, mientras que Mega registró ganancias por USD 1,94 millones, según los datos aportados por los canales a la Superintendencia de Valores y Seguros (SVS).

Hernández aporta su visión del mercado: ‘La TV abierta está más fuerte y dinámica que nunca. Es el único medio que garantiza un alcance grande en poco tiempo. Es la más elegida por los avisadores, ofrece proximidad emocional e identificación. Lo digital no logra consolidarse, hay bajo alcance y mucha segmentación por lo que demora en alcanzar al target. Netflix es más competencia de la TV de paga que nuestra, aunque hay que reconocer que ha crecido mucho en el último año’.

Continúa sobre las estrategias: ‘Hemos reforzado nuestros slots matutinos con Mucho Gusto logrando interesantes cifras de audiencia, al tiempo que reforzamos nuestra unidad digital y web en noticias. Actualmente, 11 de las 18 horas de emisión son de producción propia (60%) y 7 de producto envasado (40%)’.

Hernández sigue fuerte en el prime time con series turcas como Sila y Kara Para Ask de ATV, y Ezel de Eccho Rights. Sin embargo, indica que, producto de la inclusión de títulos de este origen en las grillas de otros canales, la competencia se ha vuelto ‘más intensa’, y agrega: ‘Contra productos como la novela local de TVN, los docu-realities de Chilevisión, o El Sultán del Canal 13, a veces lideran y a veces no’.

Consultado por el tiempo que estima seguirán las series de Turquía en América Latina, el ejecutivo señala:

‘Esa misma pregunta aplica a cualquier otro género. Los contenidos persisten en la medida que los productores ofrecen contenidos de alta calidad e historias universales. Por nuestra parte, siempre estamos atentos y abiertos a trabajar con programación de otros orígenes’.

Pero no sólo en contenido internacional de calidad está sustentado el gran momento de Mega. La serie local Pituca sin lucas promedió 45% de share, similar a Papá a la deriva, ambas en el horario de las 8pm, y Eres mi tesoro inauguró en agosto el slot de ficción propia a las 3pm. Este mes estrena otra producción para las 8pm (no tenía nombre confirmado al cierre de esta edición). Todas ellas creaciones de María Eugenia Rencoret, otrora jefa del departamento de ficción de TVN.

Con una inversión de USD 30 millones, 4 estudios de 3000mt2 en Vicuña Mackenna — antigua usina de cristalería — albergarán la producción de 4 ficciones en 2016. Habrá otros 5 más para noticias, magazines, estelares y talk shows; un nuevo centro de noticias, área de ingeniería, administración y servicios. La primera etapa se inaugura a fin de año y la segunda en diciembre 2016.

Finalmente, Hernández destaca la apuesta por la distribución internacional. Si bien descarta un departamento propio, está buscando un distribuidor global a quien encargarle la venta de los tres libros de Rencoret. ‘Ella ha sido muy exitosa internacionalmente con otros productos, y creemos que los nuestros tienen mucho potencial. Comenzaremos en MIPCOM y seguiremos en NATPE Miami’, concluye.

Pituca sin lucas fue la primera teleserie propia que promedió 45% de share a las 8pm, y Eres mi tesoro es nueva producción que inaugura el slot de las 3pm

El Trece: 'La única variable innegociable es una buena historia'

Walter Sequeira, gerente del departamento filmico de Artear

Walter Sequeira, gerente del departamento filmico de Artear (Argentina), explica que 2015 fue un año 'suceso' para su departamento con la emisión en prime time de El Trece, canal abierto de Artear (Grupo Clarín), de Las Mil y Una Noches, serie de Turquía (Global Agency) que quedará seguramente entre los programas más visto cuando finalice este año.

Se estrenó el 5 de enero y ha mantenido un promedio de 18-20 puntos de rating cada noche, según Ibope Argentina, ganándole a todas las ficciones locales y a grandes eventos deportivos como la primera final de la Copa Libertadores entre River Plate y Tigres de Monterrey, marcando 20.9 frente a 15.5 del partido (29 de julio, Ibope Argentina).

Sequeira: 'Ya adquirimos para 2016 Esposa Joven (Latin Media Corp/Ser Film Productions), también de Turquía, y estamos en proceso de comprar otra telenovela de origen europeo. Hoy necesitamos contenido fresco y original para competir con las otras plataformas'.

En relación al producto de Turquía, el ejecutivo cree que su éxito es 'estacional', y luego se volverá a la ficción nacional, que es lo distintivo. 'Los productores locales han tomado nota de los "efectos" de un éxito internacional y ya tienen productos importantes'.

En el caso de Pol-ka Producciones, casa productora del mismo grupo, este año le fue bien con Esperanza Mía (9pm), coproducción con Dori Media, y para el año próximo tendrá el unitario Signos, en coproducción con Turner.

¿Los medios seguirán complementándose? 'Sin dudas', contesta Sequeira. Y prosigue: 'Ninguno va a desaparecer, cada uno conservará su público. La competencia es todos contra todos. Mientras TV Paga e Internet se especializan en películas y series, la TV abierta da pelea con las ficciones nacionales y eventos deportivos exclusivos'.

'La audiencia se sigue segmentando muy fuertemente lo que hace mucho más complejo nuestro trabajo como programadores. Dependemos de más estudios de mercados y análisis para saber dónde está el público objetivo', añade.

'Una tendencia que vemos de los últimos 5 años ha sido que los títulos de menor renombre han funcionado mejor en términos costo-benefi-cio. Por ejemplo, en julio los estrenos Piratas del Caribe 4 y Pitufos midieron 4.5 y 4.8 respectivamente, frente a los 5.7 y 7 puntos de rating de El tesoro de la Amazonas y Cartas para Julieta, que son menos conocidos'.

El ejecutivo no ve una 'reacción positiva' de parte de los Estudios frente a esta problemática. 'Por el contrario han aumentado sus precios lo que es muy perjudicial para nosotros', declara. Y completa: 'La solución es buscar alternativas en productos originales, como por ejemplo miniseries, TV movies o programas especiales de otros orígenes. Estamos haciendo un fuerte research entre proveedores internacionales y vemos que la calidad de producción ya no es una problema. La única variable innegociable es una buena historia: amor, conflicto, elemento disruptivo, etc.'

Del éxito de Las Mil y Una Noches a Esposa Joven, de Latin Media Corp/Ser Film Productions, que será la segunda serie de Turquía que El Trece estrenará en 2016

Band Brasil, el fenómeno de las redes sociales

Diego Guebel, director general de contenidos

Diego Guebel, director general de contenidos de Band (Brasil), ofrece a PRENSARIO un análisis de la evolución del canal y la TV brasileña en los últimos años. Si bien para el ejecutivo no existen mayores diferencias en la industria en relación a otros años, en 2015 ha sido 'notable' el crecimiento del cable y los cambios en los hábitos de consumo en Brasil, con una audiencia 'cada vez más activa'.

Explica: 'Aunque las redes sociales y las nuevas plataformas han creado nuevas posibilidades, el concepto de compartir ideas y comentarios sobre un programa no es algo nuevo. La diferencia es que se volvió algo instantáneo. Brasil tiene un fenómeno particular en redes sociales: si bien ayudan al crecimiento del rating, no existe relación directa entre ambas'.

Por ejemplo, el rating de Master Chef Brazil (En-demol Shine) fue creciendo lentamente pero la explosión en redes sociales fue instantánea, generando 300.000 comentarios en Twitter cada emisión. 'El consumo de TV es más alto que otros años, y la TV abierta es la que más ha crecido. Los talent shows prevalecerán y el docu-reality sigue siendo un fenómeno del cable. En cambio el "reality duro" se agotó y perdió protagonismo. Los servicios de VOD han evolucionado enormemente, pero el contenido es y seguirá siendo el rey', destaca Guebel.

Otra tendencia mundial, que se refleja en Brasil, son los contenidos transmedia. 'Es una tendencia que nos preocupa porque aún no se sabe cómo monetizarla. Somos conscientes de que un programa transmedia hoy en día vale mucho más que uno que no lo es. Estamos empezando a trabajar en el desarrollo de contenidos propios para multiplataforma', añade.

Por último, destacó el crecimiento del mercado brasileño tras la sanción de la Ley SeAC N° 12.485, que establece un mínimo de tres y media horas de contenido local en canales de TV paga, de los cuales el 50% debe ser producido por empresas independientes. 'La industria ha cambiado las reglas del juego con esta Ley, fomentando el crecimiento de los productores independientes y el desarrollo de contenido local. Es un modelo que funciona y bien podría replicarse en toda la región', finaliza Guebel.

MasterChef Brazil promedió las 300 menciones por episodio en Twitter

GNT, más producción brasileña e independiente

Mariana Koehler, directora de Contenidos de GNT, uno de los canales emblemáticos de la programadora Globosat (Brasil), destacó a PRENSARIO que las alianzas con productoras independientes son 'esenciales', y añadió: 'Contamos con estructura, experiencia y un equipo de profesionales que nos permite generar contenido brasileño de altísima calidad'.

La ejecutiva indica que el mercado local está ávido de partnerships tanto para TV como nuevas plataformas. Para mejorar el flujo de proyectos hacia los canales del grupo, Globosat ofrece el site globosat.com.br/producao. 'Gracias a esta política hacia la producción propia, la Ley de TV Paga no tuvo impacto negativo. Al contrario, fortaleció una alianza que ya tiene más de 20 años, a partir de hacer los ajustes necesarios en nuestro prime time y darle lugar a programas de producción nacional'.

Sobre los principales lanzamientos de programación, Koehler destaca Desafio da Beleza, competencia de maquillaje en su cuarta temporada; Bela Cozinha, sobre alimentación saludable; la serie Amores Livres, y los concursos de cocina para niños QM! Chefinhos, y para adultos Cozinheiros em Ação. También Chegadas e Partidas; Superbonita con Ivete Sangalo; Documentário Los Hermanos; Os homens são de Marte... E é pra lá que eu vou; y la serie de ficción nacional Romance Policial: Espinosa.

Mariana Novaes, gerente de Marketing de GNT, añadió: 'El perfil de la audiencia en TV paga viene cambiando en los últimos años y está cada vez más ecléctico. El medio lanza cada vez más talentos reconocidos nacionalmente y la ley, que impulsó la demanda de contenido brasileño, estimula la profesionalización del mercado de producción, que viene mostrando madurez'.

En este escenario, GNT se presenta como un canal de 'relevancia' en su programación y clasificación de la audiencia, 'a modo de valorizar a los anunciantes, proyectos que realizamos juntos, y llevar estos mensajes a un público que influencia, forma opinión y tiene poder de compra'.

Al igual que Khehler, Novaes señala que el canal abrió espacio a producciones originales para VOD. 'Desde septiembre tendremos un programa de bellezas para novias, otro sobre looks con Mariana Rios, tips de belleza con Fernando Torquatto, etc. Creemos que disponibilizando nuestro contenido en diversas plataformas aumentaremos la relación de la audiencia con el canal', completa la ejecutiva.

Caracol gana relevancia en el mundo digital

Marcelo Liberini,
VP Digital

Con más de 15 años de trabajo en el mercado de Internet y de los new media, Marcelo Liberini fue designado en marzo de este año como nuevo VP digital Caracol TV (Colombia) con el objetivo de fortalecer la estrategia de la compañía en el área digital dar un salto cualitativo no sólo en el mercado colombiano sino también con proyección internacional.

Previo a su incorporación, el ejecutivo se desempeñó como COO de QB9 Entertainment, responsable de las operaciones digitales del Grupo Clarín en Argentina, donde estuvo a cargo de la construcción de la primera red de datos IP del país y la consolidación del grupo como líder digital en su país y a nivel regional.

Liberini está a cargo de la ejecución de todas las estrategias digitales de la marca Caracol, tanto para TV como radio, y desde ahí la gestión de los productos digitales de las señales Caracol Televisión y Gol Caracol, estación radial Bluradio, portales Promos y diario Espectador, y el OTT Caracol Play.

‘Buscamos darle un nuevo empuje estratégico para el futuro a corto y largo plazo, generando mayor presencia y liderazgo local y regional a nuestras marcas en el universo digital, y creando a su vez nuevas marcas y oportunidades. Consolidamos la presencia de la señal en el mundo digital protegiendo el encendido de pantalla, fidelizando las audiencias existentes y atrayendo a los nativos digitales con nuevos contenidos’, concluye Liberini.

América TV, original

Eric Jurgensen, CEO y Director
Programación

Si bien en Perú, así como en otros países de América Latina, 2015 ha sido un año más difícil que otros para la inversión en contenido audiovisual a causa de la contracción económica y el crecimiento del dólar, América TV continúa apostando por el crecimiento de una parrilla con contenido propio.

Eric Jurgensen, CEO y director de Programación, explica a PRENSARIO: ‘Este año nos hemos mantenido con números muy parecidos a los alcanzados en 2014 -entre 97% y 102%- , pero venimos de un crecimiento del 8% en 2013, y no es un dato menor’.

Actualmente la señal está haciendo foco en dos ejes. Por un lado en 2016 estará lanzando cinco nuevos estudios de producción, que representaron una inversión estimada de casi USD 30 millones. Y por el otro está apostando fuerte a las coproducciones. En octubre comenzará el desarrollo de la serie Lucas junto a Telefe (Argentina) y de la telenovela La Colorina, con Televisa (México).

‘Serán apuestas muy agresivas, que no solo se verá a nivel local sino que están pensadas para ser vendida a diferentes países del mundo. Además, se grabará en 4K UHD’, agrega Jurgensen.

En cuanto a la apuesta para el 2016, concluye

RCN, el mejor balance programático

Para 2015, RCN Televisión (Colombia) produjo nuevas series, telenovelas y formatos de entretenimiento. El género que cruza los principales lanzamientos del año son las series biográficas con Diomedes, el cacique de La Junta narra la historia del cantante vallenato más famoso de Colombia, a la cabeza.

También Celia, sobre la vida de una de las artistas latinas más importantes del mundo: Celia Cruz. Y Lady, la vendedora de rosas, sobre Lady Tabarez, quien nació en la pobreza, protagoniza una película que la vuelve famosa, pero una mala decisión en su vida la condena a prisión. Este último título fue estrenado en Netflix Latin America, donde funcionó muy bien, y luego en RCN.

RCN adaptó con éxito la versión latina de E.R. (Warner Bros.) llamada Sala de Urgencias, realizada junto a la oficina local de Resonant TV, a cargo del productor Guillermo Restrepo. Sus 60 episodios se emitieron hasta junio en RCN y en FOX Latin American Channels para toda la región. Y Brothers & Sisters (Disney), un acuerdo que el propio presidente del canal, Gabriel Reyes, anunció en NATPE Miami de hace algunos años.

Otro programas para este año son la serie de acción Historia de 2 hermanos, Hilos de sangre azul, la comedia romántica Manual para ser feliz, y Divino Pecado, ambientada a finales de los 60s. En entretenimiento, MasterChef Colombia y Factor Xs (cuarta temporada), ahora con niños; y el reality Pioneros.

Gabriel Reyes, presidente

Amor de madre, serie líder

Lucas, junto a Telefe

el ejecutivo: ‘Continuaremos invirtiendo en producciones locales. Tenemos en carpeta dos telenovelas, de la mano de la productora Michelle Alexander (Derecho de Familia), que nos garantizarán la franja de las 20 y 21 horas del 2016. Y seguiremos apostando por Amor de madre, que tiene una respuesta muy positiva en la audiencia con más de 30 puntos de rating promedio’.

OTT, nueva fuerza en América Latina

La televisión es un negocio de expectativas, pero la expectativa que hoy está en auge resulta sombría para la TV de aire y paga tradicional, con canales programados de antemano por especialistas, y tono 'generalista', en abierto, y especializado, en cable. Las estrellas son los OTTs, antes llamado new media, que florecen en todo el mundo, y en especial en América Latina.

La principal empresa de SVOD global es Netflix (42 millones de suscriptores en USA y 23 en el resto del mundo, a Agosto 2015), cuyo auge ha impactado en la industria, pero no es la única: en USA y Japón está Hulu (9 millones en USA y 1 millón en Japón, a Abril 2015), que ofrece un servicio gratuito a cambio anuncios publicitarios, más conocido como ad supported. Están Amazon Prime, como tercer gran competidor, y las plataformas de TV de pago (Xfinity on Demand de Comcast) y telecomunicaciones (FiOS on demand de Verizon).

El cambio de hábitos provocado por la llegada de Netflix, y quienes le siguieron, generó una conmoción en la industria de la TV paga lineal, porque los canales pagos de cable y satélite se encontraron con que podían emitir los episodios de una temporada sólo durante cierto tiempo y después los derechos eran vendidos, por ejemplo, a Netflix. Aparecieron los cordcutters (aquellos que dan de baja su suscripción a TV paga) y los cordnevers (nunca con cable). Sólo los deportes y las noticias, géneros que los espectadores exigen ver en vivo, quedaron a salvo de esto en la TV paga lineal.

AMÉRICA LATINA

El fenómeno OTT ha despegado en América Latina. The CIU señala que en México un 35% de los usuarios de OTT no tienen suscripción a TV paga lineal, que ya tiene una penetración del 45%. Dataxis confirmó que ese país se convertirá en el principal mercado de la región y cerrará 2015 con 5 millones de suscriptores, y estima que moverá en 2015 unos USD 370 millones. Entre enero y junio, Netflix pasó de 64% a 55,7% del mercado, mientras que Claro-Vídeo creció de 32% a 39,7%.

El ConsumerLab de TV & Media 2015 de Ericsson indica que un 39% del total de las horas dedicadas a ver TV y videos se realiza a través de los servicios de VOD en México, siendo del 34% en Colombia y 35% en Brasil. Los mexicanos consumen 8 horas y media por semana de contenidos bajo demanda, los colombianos 7 horas y media y los brasileños 6.

Según la misma fuente, un 22% de hogares de Brasil que nunca tuvieron TV paga ya contrataron servicios OTT. En México y Colombia es del 19% y 11%, respectivamente. Sobre BingeWatching añade que el 97% de los usuarios ve varios capítulos uno tras otro al menos una vez a la semana en Colombia, mientras que en México lo hace el 95% y en Brasil el 87%.

Analistas coinciden en que los OTTs seguirán ganando terreno, mientras que la TV abierta tendrá una 'decadencia lenta'. Sin embargo, el futuro de Netflix tampoco es sencillo: por un lado, ha llegado a un altísimo valor en Wall Street y necesita mantener tranquilos a sus accionistas. Y por otro hay más competidores, encabezada por Apple que sigue siendo la incógnita: lleva años tratando de armar paquetes de programación o producir contenido original, pero nada se ha confirmado aún.

Los OTTs insisten en que son un 'complemento' y no competidores de la TV paga. Los cableoperadores no están de acuerdo y tratan de prolongar la tenencia de los derechos. Muchos recurren a emitir en secuencia varios episodios de una misma serie, uno tras otro, para imitar el bingewatching. La experiencia no es la misma porque, a menos que se tenga un DVR para grabar, el horario no es libre, y se repiten episodios que ya se han visto, un hecho desmoralizante.

Es cierto que habrá siempre un público dispuesto a sentarse pasivamente frente al televisor para ser entretenido por un programador; lo que resta ver es si este sector de la audiencia será suficiente para mantener el negocio lineal en una época crecientemente transaccional, donde a diferencia de la contemplación pasiva, la experiencia es fuertemente interactiva. En ese sentido, son muy interesantes los reportajes de las nuevas plataformas digitales incluidos en esta sección.

Qubit.TV: diferenciación y posicionamiento

Mariano Primavera, fundador de Qubit.TV (centro), con Lilian Beriro, gerente de contenidos, y Javier Porta Fouz, curador

Qubit.TV, servicio regional VOD de películas lanzado en 2011, expande rápidamente su base de usuarios y países donde opera. Basado en Argentina, abrió en 2014 oficinas en Colombia y tiene presencia también en Uruguay, Paraguay, Chile y Perú. Este año apunta a consolidarse como una verdadera alternativa a los grandes competidores del rubro OTT en América Latina.

Mariano Primavera, fundador y CTO: 'Nuestro diferencial se construye a partir de ser locales en cada país, cumpliendo con las mismas reglas de todos cumplen, haciendo asociaciones estratégicas y, también, localizando el contenido'. Lilian Beriro, gerente de contenidos: 'Estamos en una etapa de evangelización, hacia el usuario y proveedores. No es tarea sencilla pero nos ha ido bien y hoy tenemos un catálogo de más de 2.000 títulos disponibles y 1.500 más que llegan en 2015; estamos trabajando con 90 proveedores y renovando 30 deals'.

'Asistimos a un cambio en el modelo de pantallas, que debemos seguir para consolidarnos. Hollywood promueve el EST como "salto" del cine al VOD, sin pasar por la TV. Estimamos implementarlo este año a un costo promedio de USD 13. Relatos Salvajes fue nuestro producto bisagra: entre abril y agosto, cuando estuvo disponible, fue #1 en viewers en ambos segmentos (B2B y B2C) con más de 2.000 y 700 transacciones T-VOD, respectivamente y con una alta tasa de repetición'.

Los ejecutivos concluyen: 'Buscamos contraprogramar, diferenciación y posicionamiento. Analizamos opciones de producción propia, pero para eso falta. Sabemos que es un driver importante de crecimiento, pero requiere mucha inversión y hoy la prioridad es otra'.

YaSports, deporte a la carta

Ariel Tobi, presidente

Snap (Argentina), productora y distribuidora de contenido, apuesta ahora por el contenido deportivo con el lanzamiento de YaSports, un servicio de VOD con lo mejor de la historia del deporte. Ariel Tobi, presidente 'Se trata de un proyecto que venimos que viene desarrollándose desde 2011 pero que sentíamos que las condiciones no estaban dadas para su lanzamiento. El trabajo que realizó Netflix en la región Latina en cuanto a afianzar a las audiencias al consumo de contenido VOD nos dio la confianza, y desde para fin de año estaremos lanzando el servicio en Argentina por un costo de USD 5'.

'El deporte lleva un consumidor muy leal, siendo uno de los tres contenidos más vistos en YouTube (gaming y música completan la lista)', explica el ejecutivo y completa: 'YaSports complementa a los canales lineales de deportes en vivo, que para nosotros seguirán liderando, pero que cada vez están más invadido por el fútbol y da un espacio menor los otros deportes'.

Realizado en asociación a un grupo de ejecutivos que vienen del mundo tecnológico como Alejandro Sas, Gaston Bercun, Ismael Briasco y Ariel Perelman, el servicio estará disponible primero en Argentina, y se espera que llegue al resto de América Latina para 2016.

VIVOPlay: 'Debemos dejar de seguir a Netflix'

Carlos Hulett, CEO, y Nelson Hulett, VP de Marketing, VIVOPlay

Como el único OTT 100% dedicado al contenido latinoamericano, VIVOPlay crece en todos los segmentos de negocio: VOD, canales lineales y producción propia. Tiene 63.000 suscriptores y una tasa de registro de 3.200 al

mes. Ha renovado su plataforma y planea nuevos acuerdos de producción en Colombia, Argentina y Miami.

Nelson Hulett, VP de Marketing: 'Sumamos 10 nuevos canales lineales (14 en total), 40 películas y telenovelas, e incrementamos la producción propia con Pantalla Dividida, el late show El Show de Bocaranda, y El informe. Tenemos suscriptores en 82 países, incluyendo Indonesia en Asia', ejemplifica.

'En 2015 cerraremos con 90.000 suscriptores y la idea es alcanzar los 200.000 en 2016. Este segundo semestre estamos haciendo un esfuerzo grande de comunicación en el US Hispano y mejorando los procesos con App Store/Google Play, etc. La app ya se descargó 60.000 veces. El 40% de nuestro tráfico viene de redes sociales, que se usan principalmente en móviles. El 20% viene de los motores de búsquedas. Y el restante por referencias. Un 60% accede a VIVOPlay desde la PC y un 40% en móvil', según el ejecutivo.

El perfil del suscriptor de VIVOPlay tiene entre 20 y 40 años, está casado y posee ingresos anuales de entre USD 70 y USD 120 mil; un 75% es universitario o ha hecho un posgrado. 'Es un usuario de clase media/media alta, altamente especializado y muy activo en digital', aclara Hulett.

El próximo paso es crecer en producción original y para eso está cerrando alianzas creativas con casas productoras de toda la región. 'No atacamos mercados, sino comunidades', remarca, y concluye: 'Tenemos que dejar de seguir el modelo Netflix y hacer nuestro propio camino', completa.

CMN: 'Construir audiencias digitales'

José Luis Massa, CEO

Fundada en Argentina hace poco menos de un año por José Luis Massa, CEO, Club Media Network es una plataforma enfocada en la construcción de audiencias específicas en torno a canales online y la monetización del contenido, acompañando el desarrollo artístico y profesional de los creadores aportando su know-how sobre el negocio audiovisual.

Massa: 'Hoy en día, se suben más de 300 horas de video por minuto a YouTube; hay más de 5 millones de canales creados; más de 6,5 millones de suscriptores de habla hispana, que se traduce en más de 88,5 millones de vistas por mes. Y nuestra región crece a una tasa de 160%'.

'La audiencia no sólo ha migrado de plataforma, sino que está en un espacio que le permite ser generador de contenido sin limitaciones. Identificamos en ellos la misma libertad que buscamos siempre como productores independientes y decidimos crear un modelo de compañía diferente al que se comenzaba a conocer en la región como network. Trabajamos en un modelo 360°, con control centralizado y desde plataformas propias de distribución y comercialización'.

Nicolás Francisquelo, Chief Revenue Officer: 'Construimos campañas diferenciales. Las marcas entienden que la estrategia digital dejó de ser netamente de marketing para convertirse en ventana primaria de comunicación para segmentos específicos'. CMN trabaja en la construcción de audiencias específicas para aquellas marcas que quieran estar presentes en las plataformas digitales.

'Estamos viviendo un fenómeno único, con códigos propios y diferentes a los de las plataformas tradicionales de comunicación. Buscamos brindarles a los creadores herramientas para optimizar sus contenidos y canales, y cuidar el vínculo con sus audiencias, que hoy son parte misma del contenido. Además, servimos de "traductores" de este nuevo fenómeno frente a las marcas', agrega Solveig Madsen, co-fundadora y COO.

Junto a Fénix Entertainment Group, de Marcelo Fígoli, CMN se organizó una gira latinoamericana del Club Media Fest, primer festival de la nueva generación de artistas nacidos en sus canales de YouTube (3 y 4 de octubre, Santiago de Chile, y 11 y 12, Buenos Aires). La primera edición (abril) contó con más de 35.000 personas. En redes sociales, hubo más de 33 millones de conversaciones durante, y 40 millones más dos semanas después.

'El festival nos ayudó a acelerar el proceso frente a la industria, que rápidamente entendió que esto no era algo pasajero sino un reacomodamiento de plataformas; un escenario donde ninguna plataforma va a desaparecer pero definitivamente deberán encontrar nuevas formas de coexistir', concluye Massa.

All3media 'undercover bosses' in Brazil

Facundo Bailez, senior formats sales executive all3media International (UK) has secured a landmark commission for its iconic factual entertainment brand Undercover Boss, as Brazil's leading broadcaster Globo debuts the first local version of the format in Latin America. Under the local title Chefe Secreto (8x'15) it is as a section of the popular weekly Sunday night primetime show Fantástico.

Facundo Bailez, senior formats sales executive: 'Undercover Boss offers a revealing insight into the social and business dynamics within a huge variety of companies, with a premise that guarantees the characters and relatable stories that will appeal to a wide audience demographic'.

Even when the deal marks the first local adaptation of Undercover Boss for Latin American audiences —other territories are soon to follow with the show also under development in Chile—, the show has a host of re-commissions for many of its local adaptations including a 7th season in the USA for CBS; season 3 launching in Spain for La Sexta; season 4 launching in France for Channel M6; and a 3rd season launching for RAI2 in Italy. Undercover Boss also sees further expansion for the brand into Eastern Europe for the first time, with new adaptations soon to launch in Poland and Bulgaria.

TV Film International: Juan Pablo Carpenter, Pamela Argandoña y Matthew Carpenter

TV Film International (Chile/USA), the recognized distributor focused in movies and content for kids led by Juan Pablo Carpenter, has lately given important steps to overcome their operations, both in terms of material that distributes and resources and framework.

On one hand, it has consolidated its relationship with the Chilean broadcaster Chilevisión as official distributor for the international markets. On the other, it has expanded its scope after the acquisition of new titles for adult audiences.

Matthew Carpenter, head of business development and digital sales, explains: 'At MIPCOM we are presenting Chilevisión's latest telenovela Searching for Maria (65x'60), which is currently being dubbed to English and Portuguese. We have licensed it for Africa and it will be first time a telenovela from Chilevisión will air in the continent, so we are very excited and hope to continue to take this great telenovela to other territories'.

And he completes: 'We are also working with

OTT services to get the Viña del Mar 2016 festival on more digital platforms, so more people around the world can enjoy the festival live on all their devices. In the US, NBCUniversal will be streaming the entire festival and we are working with other OTT providers for streaming rights in other territories'.

CMF, focus in coproduction

Valerie Creighton, President and CEO

Canada Media Fund and Telefilm Canada (CMF), entities that support local TV and digital media production, have been protagonists of the local and international expansion of the Canadian industry.

During 2014-2015, the CMF provided USD 275.4 million to over 600 innovative local TV and digital media productions. Its investment in Canada's audiovisual content industry triggered a total of USD 900 million of industry activity, an 11.3% increase from the previous year.

Explains Valerie Creighton, president and CEO: 'Coproductions continue to be of growing priority for us. In 2014 the entity contributed funding to 23 TV coproductions and their related digital media content with countries such as the UK, France, Ireland, Hungary and Brazil, among others, committing USD 1.88 million in order to increase access to markets'.

According to the executive, an additional 8 digital media projects were funded through coproduction incentives in its Experimental Stream, dedicated to supporting the creation of interactive, digital media content and software applications.

Among the top strategic alliances, Creighton highlights the developed matching funds with Brazilian funding agencies such as SP Cine and currently have matching funds with Wallimage (Belgium), the Directorate General Cinema of the Italian Ministry of Cultural Heritage, Activities and Tourism (Italy) and NZ On Air (New Zealand).

Regarding to its participation in MIPCOM, she concludes: 'We highlight Canada's expertise on two fronts: at MIPJunior we feature 4 Canadian productions designed to reach the growing market for youth edutainment science TV programming. And also supporting a session at MIPCOM to present interesting options to attract and engage the ever elusive Millennials demographic'.

Turkey, Asia & Latin America on Latin Media

Jose Escalante, CEO-Director

Headquartered in Miami, Latin Media Corp (USA) oversees the distribution in Latin America and Western Europe of a catalogue that includes both Asian telenovelas (Taiwan, Vietnam, South Korea, China and Philippines) and Latin formats. But the company decided to add a new product to its offer for the international market in late 2014: Turkish dramas.

At MIPCOM it launches the Turkish series Recuerdos Tristes (26x'80), produced by TIMS Productions (Magnificent Century) and set in the early '70, and Little Bride (99x'45 & 120x'45), from Ser Film Productions, sold to El Trece (Argentina). 'The first title exceeds all the expectation and those who like a good melodrama will be fascinated with this new production. It's being dubbed into neutral Spanish', resumes Jose Escalante, CEO-Director.

Other highlights are Cain y Abel and La Sombra de Cinar; a slate of Asian novelas and two series from America TV (Peru): the historical Micaela-La Perricholi (73x'45) and Amor de Madre (80x'45), a modern and contemporary history that recounts the experiences of five women whose lives intersect to make way for a history of excellence, sacrifice and struggle.

Escalante concludes: 'Success of the Turkish dramas in Latin America relies on the similitude that they have with Latin telenovelas produced 20 years ago and the respect for the essence of the traditional novel. If we add a variety of exotic landscapes, great cast with elegance and huge production budgets, we get an interesting mix that captivates the audience in the region and that we want to promote'.

Recuerdos Tristes, new drama produced by TIMS Productions

The super-series of Telemundo

Marcos Santana, president

Inspired in real live mixed with action and high quality, the "super-series" brand is the strongest bet of Telemundo Internacional (USA) for MIPCOM. After the announcement that Teletica (Costa Rica) incorporated the super series slate on its schedule, three more deals were confirmed in Europe and Latin America.

In late August, Masters of Paradise made its debut in Europe through the network Digital B (Albany, Kosovo), and following Acero, Woman of Steel, aired in the same slate with very good results in terms of rating. The series was already sold to Ecuavisa (Ecuador) being the first super-series of Telemundo in the broadcaster and positioning itself as leader in its slate.

By the other hand, the third season of The Lord Of The Skies, ranks first among US Hispanic networks with a market share of 18%, and second season traveled to Bolivia (Unitel) on September, while third season debuted in Telesistema Canal 11 (Dominican Republic) on August.

Among the new titles at MIPCOM, Telemundo brings the telenovelas Who is Who? (120x'60), the story of twins separated at birth; and Under the Same Sky (120x'60); where an immigrant widower works as a gardener to give the best he can to his youngest son. Produced by Disney and Vista Productions, Missing (95x'60) follows the story of a perfect family whose perfection and happiness begins to crumble the night their eldest disappears without a trace. Lastly, teleseries from TVN (Chile): La Chucara, Rebel In love (138x'60) and Matriarchs (90x'60), available as formats or ready made.

Telefilms: ‘No tenemos clientes, tenemos aliados’

Tomás Darcyl, presidente, Grupo Telefilms

Tomás Darcyl, presidente del Grupo Telefilms, hace un balance muy positivo de 2015 y tiene ambiciosos planes de expansión para los próximos dos años, tanto a nivel de producción local, coproduciendo sus primeras películas en México y Brasil, como de expansión territorial con la apertura de Diamond España antes de fin de año.

Explica Darcyl: ‘Cada año, consolidamos nuestra posición en el mercado. Creemos horizontal y verticalmente: tenemos acuerdos más firmes y trabajamos con los operadores más grandes a nivel local y pan-regional. Ellos perciben el cuidado y tratamiento que hacemos de nuestras películas y lo valoran mucho al elegirnos como aliados estratégicos’.

Además de los lanzamientos blockbusters en Hollywood, que Telefilms tendrá y en abundancia para 2016, Darcyl resalta una nueva línea de negocio: la coproducción de películas en América Latina. ‘Acabamos de ver el primer corte de Qué culpa tiene el niño, una comedia coproducida con Mónica Lozano (Amores Perros) y protagonizada por Karla Souza (Nosotros los nobles). Estrena en marzo 2016 en México, tiene un potencial muy grande’.

También el grupo estuvo involucrado en la producción en Brasil de Mi pequeño Secreto, que cuenta la historia de la familia Schurmann, quienes han dado tres vueltas al mundo en barco. ‘Es un tema muy conocido en ese país, ya que Globo (involucrado en el proyecto junto a Telefilms y la familia Schurmann) solía cubrir la aventura a menudo. Está basada en una historia real, de la que aún no tenemos fecha de estreno, pero en la que estamos muy confiados’, adelanta Darcyl.

Como muestra de la importancia en ese mercado, Telefilms cuenta desde finales de julio con Marcio de Oliveira como cabeza del grupo en Brasil y de la oficina local de Diamond Films. ‘Es un ejecutivo de mucha experiencia en ese país, donde trabajó durante muchos años en Fox’, añade.

Otra muestra del salto cualitativo y cuantitativo de la compañía: la apertura de Diamond España, donde ya se ha lanzado The Age of Adeline con muy buenos números. ‘Es un desafío enorme en un mercado sumamente importante que nos pone con un pie en Europa. Antes de fin de año contaremos con siete Diamonds en Hispanoamérica’.

¿Hollywood? Remarca Darcyl: ‘Invertimos en Valerian, la película más grande de la historia de los independientes, que será dirigida por Luc Besson (El Quinto Elemento) con un presupuesto de USD 180 millones y se estrena en 2017 en USA. Protagonizada por Cara Delevigne, narra una historia de ciencia ficción que Besson siempre soñó hacer y probablemente se convierta en una gran saga’.

Exorcismo en el Vaticano alcanzó 1 millón de espectadores en México, 350.000 en Brasil, 250.000 en Colombia y Perú, y 200.000 en Argentina; Revancha y La mujer de oro se estrenaron en varios territorios con buen desempeño, al igual que No Escape con Pierce Brosnan y Owen Wilson.

‘En 2016 tendremos un aún mejor slate: London Has Fallen, The Boy (terror), Race con Jesse Owens, Dirty Granpa con Robert de Niro y Zac Efron, y The Nice Guys con Russel Crowe: ambientada en los ’70, cuen-

ta la historia de dos detectives que investigan el asesinato de una prostituta. También Nine Lives que, con un presupuesto de USD 70 millones, muestra a una ciudad debajo del agua, y Hacksaw Ridge, dirigida por Mel Gibson, basada en una historia real sobre un médico y un héroe de guerra’.

‘También estará el estreno de The Hateful Eight, la película de Quentin Tarantino que estrenará primero en México en la región, A monsters calls, dirigida por J.A. Bayona, con Felicity Jones y Liam Neeson, y la remake Secret in their eyes con Julia Roberts y Nicole Kidman’, agrega el ejecutivo.

‘Estamos atravesando un momento maravilloso del mercado de contenidos con más desafíos por delante. En Telefilms, cuidamos las películas y su exposición: el contenido es más rey que nunca. Tenemos una estrategia de planificación de ventanas que se desarrolla muy seriamente, y que es de las cosas que más aprecian nuestros clientes’, concluye Darcyl.

The Kitchen, agreement with Cisneros

Ken Lorber, President/CEO, The Kitchen

The Kitchen, US based studio specialized in providing dubbing and subtitling into English, French and Portuguese, as well as other languages, has signed an strategic alliance with Cisneros Media Distribution (CMD) to offer specialized dubbing services for the world's Spanish-speaking markets.

Under this alliance, The Kitchen is the exclusive sales and marketing agent for Latin Spanish dubbing worldwide and CMD is the exclusive provider of the voices, utilizing its large cast of actors and actresses under contract with its affiliated production companies in Venezuela. This agreement allows the dubbing house to expand its offerings of post-production and media services, leveraging those services provided by Cisneros Media's companies for more than 50 years.

Ken Lorber, president/CEO, The Kitchen: 'While the company has always offered Latin Spanish dubbing in our Miami facility, it was difficult to offer competitive pricing for the Latin, or Neutral Spanish markets. Our goal, for the past 15 years, has always been to look for better ways in which to service our global clients, and we couldn't be more excited by this new alliance, which allows us to do just that'.

'An abundance of new programming, originated in Turkish, Hindi, French, Mandarin and Korean, for example, continues to penetrate every country around the globe and language is no longer a barrier. With the proliferation of new formats and digital platforms, the need for global language services is even greater. The coming-together of these two companies is certain to provide the highest quality and most competitively priced solutions for language dubbing', completes the executive.

In the less than one month since its debut in the Middle East, The X-Prank Show: Urgent Landing generated in excess of 28+ million views on YouTube.

'The overwhelming success of The X-Prank Show underscores its huge potential with both broadcast and digital platforms. Since the

Carlos Benito, head of international development

Launched 6 years ago, Grupo Secuoya has become one of the largest independent audiovisual holding of the Spanish market, dedicated to the creation, production, distribution and services, and operating in Spain and Latin America, where since late last year is creating a network of production across different business models.

At MIPCOM, it launches 2 children's shows in order to expand in this field. 'It is a key genre for us and we are getting off to a good start with an animation show entitled City Monsters and a format entitled Selfie show', explains Carlos Benito, head of international development. On the other hand, Secuoya exhibits Time Box, a format that is producing for TVE (Spain), and currently discussing an adaptation for Italy.

The company, which already has presene in Chile, Peru, Colombia and USA, is setting up a Colombian TV news agency together with EFE. 'We have also reached an agreement with BBC World for the distribution of some of their content in specific regions', he adds.

This year, the brand new format is LubDub, a talent show where for the first time both jury and audience have to decide with their hearts. The participants' mothers will introduce their children; whose talent they believe is real rather than a mother's love and who now get to demonstrate it.

Benito completes: 'Audience and jury members hold in their hands an electronic device, which transmits data that proves in a televised form whether or not they have been moved by the performance, irrespective of whether it was good or bad. In this way, neuroscience tools are rigorously applied to television entertainment by means of a scientific test'.

Filmed in HD, Wild Skin is a modern adaptation of the hit La Fiera (1978), but with the touch and the inspiration of a team of talents who have joined forces to present to the international market a big bill and quality product.

Santiago Gimeno, CEO

Comercial TV has had an exciting 2015, becoming one of the most dynamic Spanish distributors. Its international area is experiencing a process of consolidation that will allow the company to face the future challenges. And on the national side, it has acquired two catalogs to increase its sales in the Spanish networks.

Santiago Gimeno, CEO: 'We have closed a partnership with 7AMedia, from former Cisneros VP's Cesar Diaz, to jointly manage our interests in Latin America and US Hispanic from our new office in Miami; and with Caracol TV we are commercializing their products in Spain, CEE and other territories. We also partnered France's Java Films, producer and distributor of documentaries, with whom collaborate on selling their contents in Latin America'.

'We are strategically starting to co-produce our own contents. The deal with 7AMedia contemplates starting a new production line for Latin fiction, and in Spain we are already working in our first miniseries. On formats, we are adapting one we have picked up last MIPTV'.

Comercial TV highlights in Cannes RCTV telenovela Wild Skin, the HD documentary FC Barcelona. Passion and Business ('50) and the reality MMA Stars. 'We aim to serve as a bridge between the talent of creators and the needs of the channels in Europe and America. Africa and MENA are large areas with great potential for us. They are growing and we are following with great interest its developments. In Africa especially, we are establishing some strategic alliances that we will close shortly', concludes Gimeno.

The talent of Talpa

John de Mol, CEO, Talpa; Carson Daly, host of The Voice USA, and Mark Burnett, creator of The Voice.

Talpa (Netherlands) attends its first MIPCOM as part of ITV (UK), who has acquired the company in March for £355 million. Talpa Media has also entered into a long-term strategic partnership with Vorst Media (Netherlands) to have the international distribution and production rights over both existing and future formats, including the successful Face Your Addiction and Hi-Q Genius. Furthermore, Vorst Media has access to Talpa Content, the creative heart of the company, and its extensive format portfolio.

At MIPCOM, Maarten Meijs, managing director, Talpa Global, the international sales department and digital division, highlights a slate of talent shows and entertainment formats headed by The Puppet Show ('75), a new family-oriented talent show where participation is open to anyone in the country who has a self-made puppet and a talent to enchant, impress and entertain.

Superkids, from the makers of The Voice Kids

The Big Picture ('45) is a revolutionary gameshow that tests the visual knowledge in order to get a million dollars, while Dance Dance Dance ('90) takes celebrity dancing to a whole new level.

From the makers of The Voice Kids ('90), a positive talent show that gives the nation's most gifted youngsters the stage they deserve.

Also, Talpa brings to MIPCOM Sing What ('45), where two teams of celebrity songwriters compete against each other by performing national and international hit songs with lyrics they've written themselves.

The company arrives to Cannes after receiving its second Emmy award for the American adaptation of The Voice in the category Outstanding Reality Competition Program at the 67th annual Primetime Emmy Awards 2015.

Polar Star, contenido para VOD

Polar Star (Argentina) llega a MIPCOM con grandes expectativas por las nuevas incorporaciones a su catálogo, que incluyen largometrajes y series, además de dos nuevas librerías que adquirió específicamente para VOD en América Latina. Las proyecciones para 2016 son muy buenas.

Carlos y Diego Kargauer: 'Adquirimos las librerías de Hanway con más de 100, y Wild Bunch, con 60 películas para VOD. El crecimiento en este mercado no es aún vertiginoso pero sí permanente. Pay TV aún tiene una gran ventaja, y free TV en algunos territorios está estable, mientras que en otros cayó'.

Si bien para los ejecutivos la producción original crece en varios mercados, sobre todo en Centroamérica, los canales no han dejado de adquirir producto. Aseguran: 'Los independientes estamos con muy buen material fílmico y, aunque la TV abierta ya no adquiere tanto, hay nuevos players digitales. El negocio ha cambiado definitivamente'.

Tenemos productos súper comerciales con buenos casts, sobre todo en acción con Jean Claude Van Damme o Steven Seagal, cuyas películas han tenido menos exposición en cine pero entregan buenos resultados en términos de ratings a sus clientes.

En MIPCOM, destaca Crossbones, protagonizada por John Malkovich, y las películas Expendables 2, Diana, Zero Dark Thirty, y las comedias dramáticas Blue Jasmine y Magic in the Moonlight (Woody Allen).

All six of CBS’s weekly original broadcasts placed in the top 20 among viewers on summer, including Zoo (7.67m, 1.8/05 in adults 25-54 and 1.2/04 in adults 18-49), Under The Dome and Extant, and 3 editions of Big Brother. The talk show The Late Show With Stephen Colbert averaged 6.6 million viewers, and was the most-watched late night program, according to Nielsen live plus same day fast national ratings (Sept. 8). CBS.com experienced its highest premiere-day traffic ever and streams of the full episode are up triple-digits compared to last year to date. It was also the most social entertainment show on TV, according to Nielsen Social Guide’.

‘There is a transformation in how viewers consume content. Fortunately, with our popular content on CBS and The CW and premium offerings on Showtime, we are well-positioned to take advantage of new platforms’, concludes Chamberlain.

BY ANNA ANKRI (AANKRI@EURODATATV.COM)

Oceania, targeting millennials

For several years, Australia and New Zealand have both registered a decrease in the average viewing time of their young population. This is not going to stop since 2015 marked the arrival of OTT giant Netflix in both countries which could highly benefit from this decrease and get the attention of all millennials. Nevertheless, local productions could once again be a huge challenge for Netflix, considering the great results achieved by home-produced content on TV in both countries recently.

Despite the lower volume of locally-made programs launched compared to imported shows in Australia and New Zealand, viewers appeared to truly enjoy local creations regardless of the genre. In fiction, viewers partiment, drug addiction and illness. This program recorded impressive scores with +362% up on the slot. In New Zealand, Lost & Found a local reality show aimed at reuniting families and discovering lost family heritage also performed well with +39% up on the slot of TV3.

Regarding entertainment, Australian and New Zealander channels relied on adapting international reality formats to attract younger audiences. This strategy paid off since many of these shows achieved impressive ratings such cularly appreciated crime series in 2015 in this region. Indeed, the Australian mini-series Catching Milat relating to the investigation into the 1990s backpacker murders achieved impressive ratings on Seven with a 30.8% market share on average (+110% up on the slot). Broadcast on TV3 in New Zealand, Westside, another crime series performed well, especially in young adults aged 18-39 years old (+36% up on the slot average).

Factual-wise, the Australian private channel SBS marked its viewers with Struggle Street, a documentary about some Australian families living on the fringes of society, facing unemplo-

The Australian mini-series Catching Milat relating to the investigation into the 1990s backpacker murders achieved impressive ratings on Seven with a 30.8% market share on average (+110% up on the slot)

as the adaptation of the British game show Come Dine With Me in New Zealand, (+135% up on the slot in young adults 18-39) and the local version of the Danish show Married at First Sight in Australia (+43% up on the slot in all individuals). The Australian channel Ten also invested in a new game show The Great Australian Spelling Bee which showcases Australia's brightest young talent as they spell their way to victory (+66% up on the slot in all individuals for the premiere).

Nevertheless, local creations also suffered from fierce competition between the channels in Australia. In July 2015, two cooking shows The Hotplate on Nine and Restaurant Revolution on Seven competed against each other in the same timeslot. Due to low ratings, Seven was forced to replace its show after a few episodes and the channel scheduled YouTube cat videos Cats Make You Laugh Out Loud instead. Ironically, the program was the best performing entertainment show of the night, defeating its main rival The Hotplate and The Great Australian Spelling Bee despite the show already being available for free on YouTube. Capitalizing on this success, the channel scheduled Dogs Make You Laugh Out Loud the week after, which was even more successful since it was the third most-watched program of the night. The channel planned for more to air in the coming weeks.

Thus, digital content is growing in Australia and in New Zealand and the arrival of Netflix in March 2015 had already shaken up the market and boosted local creations. Indeed, to face this new competition, well-established SVOD platforms launched original creations such as the crime series Wolf Creek and the political drama Enemies of the State expected to be launched in 2016 on Stan, a service co-owned by Fairfax Media.

Other platforms focused on dealing with exclusive rights with distributors to provide recent and qualitative content to their subscribers. For instance, the drama Mr. Robot was exclusively available on the Foxtel-owned platform Presto a few weeks before its TV broadcast on Seven in Australia. To resist in this fast-changing environment and to attract younger audiences, traditional broadcasters have no choice but to rely on new digital strategies to distribute content such as binge watching. Following the premiere of its new drama Glitch, the Australian public broadcaster ABC made the entire series immediately available on its streaming platform ABC iview. The show broke records on the platform, recording more than 1 million iview plays, with two weeks availability still to go. In September, ABC will go further with its upcoming comedy Sammy J and Randy in Ricketts Lane and all six episodes will be available on iview for a full month, ahead of an expected October premiere on TV.

ABS-CBN, at the forefront in The Philippines

Eveyn "Leng" Raymundo, VP of integrated program acquisitions and international distribution at ABS-CBN

ABS-CBN's rating supremacy was bolstered by the strong TV viewership for its weekday and weekend primetime offerings. 'We reached all-time high ratings by the 2Q buoyed by our primetime dramas and record-breaking format adaptations during weekends. Almost half of Philippine TV households tuned in to our screen in June after we hit an average national audience share of 47%', explains Eveyn "Leng" Raymundo, VP of integrated program acquisitions and international distribution.

ABS-CBN programs occupy 27 of the Top 30 programs for the first half of the year, while the broadcaster prime time block remained undisputed with its top caliber drama series as Nathaniel (34.9%), The Promise (33.5%), Bridges Of Love (22%) and our local adaptation of Pasion de Amor (21.2%).

'First season of Your Face Sounds Familiar maintained its lead in its timeslot until the end as it received an average national TV rating of 37.2%; season 2 launched in September. Meanwhile, The Voice Kids Season 2 hit an all-time high of 46% during its run. It is the most watched program until the finale. We also launched two new dramas: All Of Me and Doble Kara, which have strengthened our afternoon block', she adds.

Raymundo says that in the Filipino market it is 'fundamentally working family dramas with multi-generational characters, and strong love story capture the highest ratings', as well as entertainment formats as a new trend this year. She completes: 'Viewers like the light-hearted fun and camaraderie of the celebrities but at the same time recognize the competency and dedication the celebrities put in their performance every weekend'.

'On the digital side, there is an increasing awareness on VOD and live streaming services in the Philippines. Through iWANTV and ABS-CBN Mobile, our programs gained audiences online and among smartphone users proven by the 74.6 million page views. Leading the most watched Kapamilya shows online are The Promise (4.2 million views), Bridges Of Love (1.5 million), Pasion De Amor (1.5 million), Oh My G! (1.2 million) and Gandang Gabi Vice (866,777 views).

'Filipino dramas portray stories of courage, perseverance and romantic love. They emerge victorious over challenges and misfortune while keeping their values intact. Global audiences closely identify with them since our stories reflect their own journeys or motivate them as they fight their own battles. Riding on their success in Asia and Africa, we plan to export more of our content to Latin America and Eastern Europe. We also intend to push more format buys in other territories, and at the same time, looking at new media as a major growth area', she concludes.

FINAS: co-produced animated series

Deputy Minister of Communications and Multimedia of Malaysia, Dato' Jailani Johari, and Dato' Kamil Othman, Director General, FINAS

The National Film Development Corporation (FINAS) has strategically positioned Malaysia as the creative multimedia hub of the region and as an ideal filming destination.

The industry has been growing significantly and there has been an exponential growth in the number of government funding and incentives available through FINAS and its Pitching Centre.

Moreover, the support and assistance cover a wide range of content from Creative Industry Lifelong Learning Programme (CILL), development funding, production, co-production, pre-seed, VFX, commercialization, R&D, tax breaks, cash rebates, marketing and promotion, and more. As a result, Malaysia has become an attractive location for international co-production projects as well as an ideal location for prominent animation houses to set up subsidiaries in.

Animation production services are among the biggest contributors to export revenues in the industry. Malaysia has developed itself for international co-production, which has brought together collaborations with Cartoon Network, Disney Channel (Supa Strikas), Hasbro (Transformers: Rescue Bots), Nickelodeon, NBCUniversal, etc. This can be seen from the increasing revenue of exports from creative content, which has doubled to USD 144 million as at end of 2014 from approximately USD 47 million, before the Economic Transformation Programme (ETP) (Pemandu, 2014).

Now FINAS is enhancing its industry for feature film, documentary, TV series, post-production services, etc. The continuation of Film in Malaysia Incentive (FIMI) in 2014 has retained the momentum of estimated production spend in the country from approximately USD 35 million in 2013 to USD 79 million in 2014 (Pemandu, 2014). Furthermore, the launch of Pinewoods Iskandar Studios Malaysia indicated Malaysia's ambition and capacity to attract international quality productions, such as The Weinstein Co. and Netflix series, Marco Polo.

Dato' Kamil Othman, Director General, confirms 25 companies this MIPCOM led by the Deputy Minister of Communications and Multimedia, Dato' Jailani Johari. The 135.5sq2 Malaysian Pavilion offers more than 200 new titles, including the animation series BoBoiBoy The Movie, Chuck Chicken, Hogie the Globehopper, Rimba Racer, the TV series Unsung Places, Wel- come to the Rail World – Japan and the feature films Terbaik Dari Langit, Nota and KIL.

BoBoiBoy The Movie and Hogie the Globehopper, two animation products highlighted at MIPCOM

Under the leadership of Othman, FINAS is working towards further developing the Malaysian film industry and currently in the midst of working on a plan to expedite the production of Oscar-worthy films. Hence, an Oscar Selection Committee was formed to handpick the best of the best film and to evaluate and set a higher standard for local production.

'Malaysian companies have seen a tremendous evolution as they were able to learn from the global players, develop conducive partnerships and jointly develop world-class IPs for the domestic and world consumption. There have been more and more of them developing internationally-acclaimed CGI animations such as Life of Pi, Snow White and the Huntsman, X-Men: First Class, Vikings: The Blood Eclipse, War of The Worlds: Goliath, Rabbit, Bollywood blockbusters Don and Enthiran, among others', concludes Othman.

Turkmenistan, Tajikistan and Uzbekistan, according to MRM

BY ARTEM VAKALYUK, MEDIA RESOURCES MANAGEMENT, UKRAINE

TV markets in Tajikistan, Uzbekistan, and Turkmenistan differ a lot from the points of view of their volume, number of broadcasters, content production facilities and trends of development. For instance, these countries are just starting to evolve and integrate into global TV tendencies. In this article we give a short analysis of current situation but unfortunately, data on TV ratings and share of the TV channels is not available because of the absence of national researches.

Turkmenistan

Turkmenistan is situated in central Asia with an area of 491,200 km² and a population of 5.36 million people. There are a total of 1.85 million television households and an estimated 2.2 million television sets in use. Approximately 76% of the television households still rely on the analogue terrestrial platform for their primary television reception.

Satellite television (DVB-S) has been seriously compromised following the decision by the President of Turkmenistan requiring that all satellite dishes be removed from the rooftops. However, cable television will be introduced although content will be strictly censored by the government.

The Ministry of Communication is the legislative and regulatory body responsible for broadcasting in Turkmenistan. It is responsible for proposing and implementing legislation in the area of electronic communications. Currently 6 national broadcasters are available on the analogue terrestrial platform. They are: Turkmenistan (informational), Altyn Asyr (general interest), Yaslyk (entertainment), Miras (cultural), Türkmen owazy (music), and Türkmenistan-Sport. There is also Aşgabat TV channel, which broadcasts only for the territory of Ashgabat.

Unlike the other countries of the former USSR, which have made some progress towards the implementation of their DTT platforms, Turkmenistan has not yet begun DTT trials. This can be attributed to the state's information policy, which may effectively conflict with the introduction of digital technologies.

Tajikistan

Tajikistan is situated in Central Asia with an area of 143,100 km² and a population of 8.47 million people. TV industry in Tajikistan is the least developed among other CIS countries but for Turkmenistan, which is the only one "closed for the others' eyes" market of the region with only 7 TV state-owned channels and without private TV stations at all.

According to the TV and Radio Broadcasting committee of Tajikistan there are totally 57 TV stations in the country, 17 of which are private and the others are state-owned ones. The main distinctive feature of the local TV market is absolute dominance of regional and local TV broadcasters (the majority of local TV channels are operating in the province of Sughd, one of 4 administrative divisions of Tajikistan situated on the north of the country).

Currently there are only four national-wide TV stations in Tajikistan that cover more than two thirds of the state territory by means of terrestrial and satellite distribution. They are: First Channel Tajikistan (99.7% coverage), TV Safina (77.4%), Chahonnamo (75.7%), and Bakhoriston TV (72.1%). And all these TV channels are state-owned. National-wide private broadcasters absence is the main obstacle of the country TV industry development.

Local authorities actually stopped giving new broadcasting licenses in 1999 – from that time and till the beginning of 2015 only one TV channel was "awarded" by TV license – it was private NTT channel (stands for Independent Television of Tajikistan) which started broadcasting in summer 2007 and covers with its signal the capital of the state Dushanbe and its suburbs.

TV advertising market in Tajikistan is rather small – less than USD 20 million (the population of the country nears 8.47 million people, there are approximately 2.5 million households). Out of 2.5 million television households, almost 1.8 million households rely on the terrestrial platform for their primary television reception while 650,000 households rely on satellite. Dominance of the state-owned channels on the market prevents the substantial growth of advertising industry in the state. This is also one of the main reasons of poor TV content production facilities – there is neither local series nor local adaptations of the international TV formats on the Tajik TV.

Situation may change after analogue terrestrial signal switch of – it is planned for the end of 2015. DTT-signal transmission first started in May 2010 in Dushanbe in DVB-T.

MPEG-4 standard. In 2011-2012 DTT became available in three more regions of the country. Nowadays Tajikistan is implementing DVB-T2 standard.

Uzbekistan

Uzbekistan is also situated in Central Asia and has an area of 447,400 km². The population of Uzbekistan totals 30.2 million people. From the TV households number point of view the TV market of Uzbekistan exceeds the one of Tajikistan more than twice – there are near 5.6 million households and 8.1 million television sets in use in the country. The terrestrial platform is used by 77% of all television households. Cable and satellite television delivery platforms are becoming increasingly popular with viewers and account for 10-15% and 7-9% of all television households, respectively.

Although a government decree officially eliminated state censorship in 2002, it has continued to severely restrict independent media. In 2006 authorities further tightened state control by requiring re-registration by all media outlets not passing a summary review of qualifications. In 2012 almost 40 independent private television stations and 9 state-owned regional TV channels were operating in Tajikistan, but four state-owned television stations, run by the Television and Radio Company of Uzbekistan, dominated the market. They are: Ozbekiston, Yoshlar, Sport TV, and Tashkent. By the end of 2013 the biggest and the most popular private TV channels (Markaz TV, NTT, Forum TV, and SoftC) were closed by the government.

TV advertising evolved rapidly in Uzbekistan till 2014. Its volume in 2013 reached almost USD 60 million, and its annual growth was forecasted for further few years at the 12-15% level. But due to the closure of main private broadcasters at the end of 2013, the TV ad spent in 2014 dropped more than 40%. TV content production is just starting developing in the country. The main producers of TV series and TV movies are state-owned Uzbektelefilm and Uzbekkino companies. In the last two years some private productions and TV stations started shooting local series and TV shows (no international TV formats are yet officially adapted in Uzbekistan).

In June 2008, the first DTT pilot project in central Asia was launched in the capital city of Tashkent. Viewers could access 8 standard-definition television services using MPEG-4 AVC compression technology. In September 2008, the further multiplex was launched offering viewers in Tashkent and Bukhara access to four government-owned television services. Regular DTT broadcasting started in September 2009 offering 12 DTT channels (the service was a mixture of 4 government-owned and 8 commercial pay-DTT channels). By the end of 2013 DTT-multiplexes covered near 42% population of the country. ATT switch-off is planned for the end of 2017.

KTK makes the difference with own production

Merkeyev Dauren, general producer, KTK

Launched in 1991, Commercial Television Channel (KTK) is the oldest private TV channel in Kazakhstan. According to the monitoring service, by the end of 2015, KTK continues to show the first position in the market among commercial channels, and retains overall second position, behind the state TV company 1 channel Eurasia.

Merkeyev Dauren, general producer: 'Our target audience include those in the 18–54-year-old age group (all groups are represented almost evenly, with a predominance in the 18-29 age group, and a slight decline in the 30-39 age group), quite equivalent to the sex group (52.7% of women and 47.3% - men), with a secondary education, Kazakhs (62.93%)'.

'Our high-rated projects are own produced informational and publicist shows, mainly produced in Russian; the basis of competing channels consists of foreign products. From Monday to Sunday in prime time our views watch Zhanalyktar (daily news), The main newroom (special reports), Black square (criminal investigations), Our truth (talk-show), and The Experiment (social experiments in the city), etc.'.

'Our foreign products are mostly TV series and documentaries (scripted reality) from Russia including TV series for male and female audiences, Ukrainian documentary dramas, and Chinese and Indian TV series, which are doing really well. In recent years the percentage of viewers who prefer TV programs in Kazakh language has significantly increased', completes Dauren.

Within the last few years, Kazakhstan's TV market has changed dramatically: 'A number of factors have forced local TV channels to rapidly change its strategies: penetration of the Internet and consequently decline of subscription fee; development of cable and satellite TV and decline of connection and subscription fee; reduction of the percentage of TV viewing; steady increase of the percentage of Kazakh-speaking audience'.

'Also, the decrease of the overall level of TV viewing among educated viewers with an average (or higher) level of income; a drop of viewers' interest to informational and publicist programs, due to the general decrease of political activity in the country; increasing competition from Russian TV channels, due to the rapid development of cable and satellite networks', concludes Dauren.

KTV, national series on top

Television and Radio Corporation 'Kazakhstan' (RTRC) is one of the largest media conglomerates, consisting of a national TV channel Kazakhstan, kids channel Balapan (it has just celebrated its 5th Anniversary) and KAZsport, as well as four radios, as well as regional TV and radio companies.

Nurzhan Zhalaurovna, Chairman of the Board of RTRC, explains: 'We want our viewers not to only receive the information, but also to understand the essence of the reforms, and realized the opportunities offered to them. We have news, talk shows, documentaries and our TV series'.

For four years Kazakhstan has been broadcasting entirely in the state language: 'There were doubters, skeptics asking if it was possible to form a good TV audience, to make a quality product... There is a concept of the "television habit", which means that people get used to a certain channel, to the show format. In Kazakhstan, the viewer watches TV in the domestic and neighboring countries so the habit cannot be ignored, it is becoming even more difficult to form'.

To preserve the traditions and bring something new, Kazakhstan raised the quality of its production technology, delivery format, and graphic design. 'We changed the content and quality, so our viewers could begin to form expectations, taste, and the same habit. The audience appreciated our efforts, as shown by our ratings. We are being awaited and we are popular. We were the first ones among domestic broadcasters to began subtitled the main projects in Russian, specially socially significant programs, documentaries, TV series'.

Zhalaurovna concludes: 'We focus on an audience of 19 to 45 years. We need new formats, the continuous improvement of shows, information, TV films, entertainment, live shows and off-air promotion. We have raised our audience's expectations for quality content'. Successful shows include the late night talk show Tungi studiyada with Nurlan Koyanbayev, as well as Saturday Meeting, Inspiration, Women's happiness, the mega-project The Voice (Talpa), entertainment sports show Big Race, and Kazakh children living abroad created with the support of Ministry of Foreign Affairs'.
